To portray vividly a modern college year — to provide a storehouse for memories of carefree youth — those have been our ambitious aims. To meet the critic's charge of "stereotype" with originality despite increased financial woes — that has been our foremost problem. Do not judge too harshly the result — the

• task was difficult. •

THE conventional in art work—the touch of the artist's pen and brush—has given way to the sculptor's hand and photographer's lens in developing the theme of this volume. The modeling by Miss Katherine Kammer—the photography by Mr. J. D. Panfield.

Twenty-five years, a quarter of Tulane's great century of progress, he has served us; fifteen years a dean, our counselor and friend. May we, the sons of Tulane, by this modest gesture show in some measure our appreciation. We affectionately dedicate this . . . centennial edition to . . . DR. EDWARD A. BECHTEL educator, orator and scholar.

THIS is an historic volume, recording Tulane's latest year, commemorating her hundredth anniversary. An attempt was made to treat every phase of the University's great life, to treat it in a modern light, with modern decorative motif.

ALBERT BLEDSOE DINWIDDIE, PH. D., LL. D.

NINTH president of Tulane, Dr. Dinwiddie has guided the affairs of the University through fifteen years of post-war inflation and depression, the most progressive and perhaps the most trying period in the century of steady advancement which forms the remarkable background of the Tulane University of today. Dr. Dinwiddie assumed the office of president of the University October 1, 1918, having served previously as dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. His wealth of executive ability and qualities of character and personality soon won for him a position among leading educators of the nation. The secret of his great success is probably the fact that he is possessed of a charitable and kind nature and in the flurry of a busy executive life never loses sight of the human side. Dr. Dinwiddie always has time for the little things and his range of activity is of astounding breadth. With such a man in the president's chair, Tulane is destined to make even more remarkable strides as she enters her second century of progress.

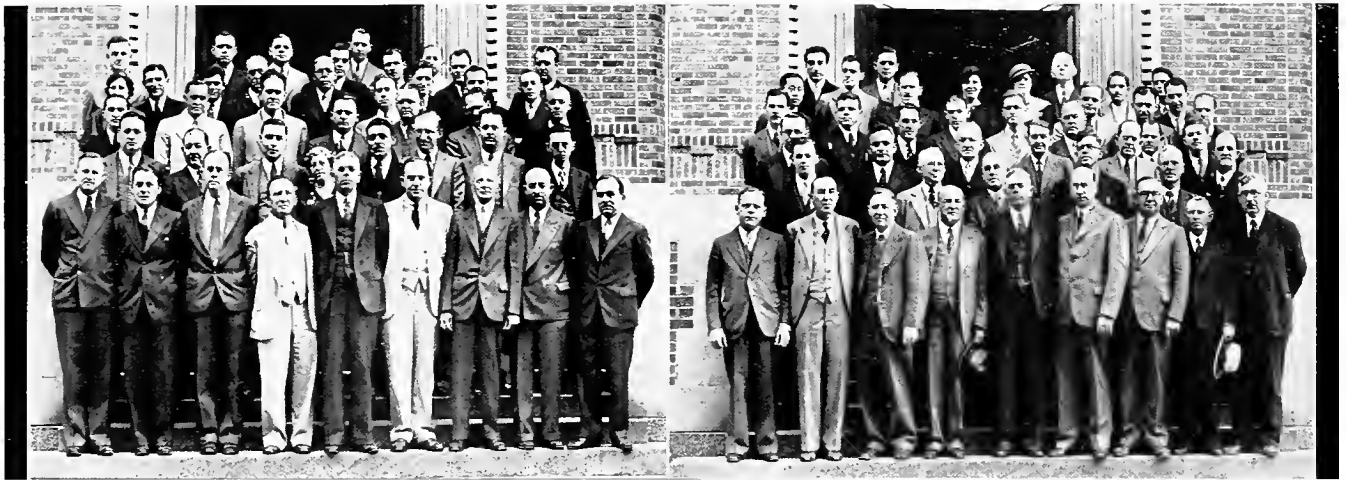

THE SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

CHARLES CASSEDY BASS, M.D., D.Sc., F.A.C.P.

Dean

The School of Medicine occupies an enviable place among the leading medical schools of the country. Students and doctors from every state in the Union and from many foreign countries come to Tulane for medical training.

The Hutchinson Memorial Clinic in the New Hutchinson Memorial Building provides for the most practical training and experience in actual care of patients. Each senior student has what corresponds to a well equipped private office where, under the supervision of an instructor, he examines and treats his patients as he should do later in private practice.

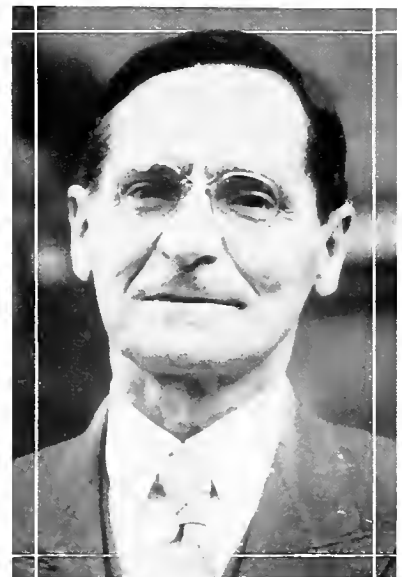

FACULTY GROUPS—SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

THE SCHOOL OF PHARMACY

J. F. SIMON, M.Ph., Ph.D.

Dean

Established in 1838, the School of Pharmacy, now under the jurisdiction of a Pharmacist Dean, offers a four-year course leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Pharmacy; this course is now being administered strictly according to the Pharmaceutical Syllabus, a publication prepared and published by the National Pharmaceutical Syllabus Committee, representing the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy, the National Association of Boards of Pharmacy, and the American Pharmaceutical Association.

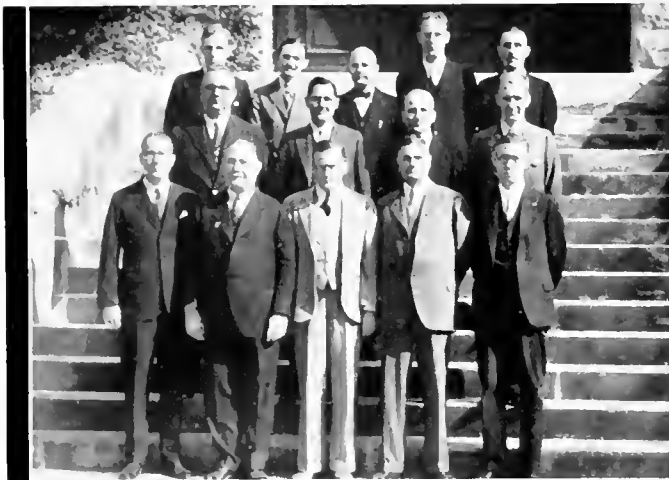

THE COLLEGE OF LAW

RUFUS CARROLLTON HARRIS, A.B., LL.B., JURIS.D., LL.D.
Dean

The Tulane College of Law was established in 1847 as the Law Department of the University of Louisiana.

The curriculum of the College has been arranged to provide for the special training of those who intend to practice in Louisiana, and at the same time to afford training to those who may wish to practice in any of the other states. The College owns one of the most complete law libraries in the Southern states. It is a member of the Association of American Law Schools.

It publishes the Tulane Law Review, which affords a medium for the expression of the best thought available on Comparative Jurisprudence.

FACULTY—COLLEGE OF LAW

FACULTY—COLLEGE OF COMMERCE

THE COLLEGE OF COMMERCE

MORTON ARNOLD ALDRICH, A.B., PH.D.
Dean

The purpose of this college has been, since its establishment in 1914, to offer substantial professional training preparatory to a business career. The instruction offered is planned for students sufficiently able and mature to do work of university grade, and no student is received unless prepared to do work of this character. It is essential, also, to the permanent success of the college that its students approach their work in an earnest professional spirit.

In order to make the business courses available for business men and women, classes are also held at night from 8 to 9:45 o'clock. Each course meets one night a week.

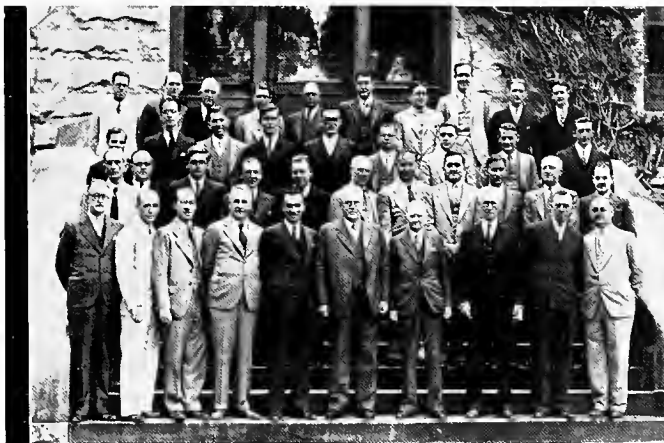

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

EDWARD A. BECHTEL, PH.D.

Dean

The College of Arts and Sciences is one of the oldest colleges of Tulane University. It offers courses leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, and Bachelor of Education in Physical Education.

The curriculum is planned to give a general education and, at the same time, affords opportunity for specialization in some one group of studies. Special courses offered prepare for the study of Medicine and of Law. Among the elective courses is included the Department of Journalism. The course in Physical Education affords preparation for athletic coaches and directors, together with training in academic subjects.

FACULTY—COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

FACULTY—NEWCOMB COLLEGE

NEWCOMB COLLEGE

PIERCE BUTLER, A.B., M.A., PH.D.

Dean

Mrs. Josephine Louise Newcomb founded Newcomb College as a memorial to her daughter, Harriott Sophie Newcomb. In fulfillment of Mrs. Newcomb's wish and her profound interest in the people of New Orleans, the College endeavors to equip young women for effective and intelligent service to society. A college of liberal arts offering sound instruction in cultural and scientific fields is the center of Newcomb. For students suited by temperament or by special aptitude to develop a sound culture through Art or Music, the College offers special four-year courses in those subjects, leading to appropriate degrees.

THE COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

DOUGLAS SMITH ANDERSON, A.B., M.A., LL.D.

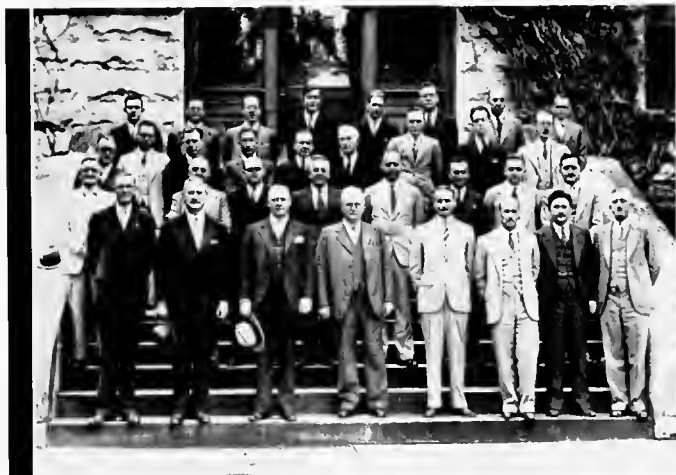

Dean

The College of Engineering offers broad courses of professional training in the fundamental principles of the different branches of Engineering and Architecture, leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Engineering and Bachelor of Architecture, respectively.

The courses offered are Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, Civil Engineering and Chemical Engineering.

Within the past several years, extensive additions have been made to the equipment of the engineering laboratories, to the extent that they offer excellent facilities for the regular undergraduate instruction, as well as opportunities for the study and investigation of special problems.

For the study of Architecture, New Orleans offers exceptional advantages.

FACULTY—COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

FACULTY—SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK

THE SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK

ELIZABETH WISNER, Ph.D.

Director

The School of Social Work is a graduate school offering a professional curriculum in social work. The leading social agencies in New Orleans cooperate in furnishing field work facilities for its students. As the only member of the American Association of Schools of Social Work in this section of the South, the Tulane University School of Social Work attracts graduates from many of the leading universities in this area. Students from the School now occupy important positions in public and private agencies throughout many states.

GRADUATE SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

HIRAM WATKINS KOSTMAYER, A.B., M.D., F.A.C.S.

Dean

The Graduate School of Medicine, a department of the College of Medicine of the Tulane University, provides post-graduate instruction to the medical profession. The courses offered are arranged to afford work from October to June of each year, and during that time there may be found medical graduates from all parts of the country who come to avail themselves of the opportunities presented in order to keep abreast with the recent advances in medicine and surgery, or to specialize in the major branches.

Instruction during the forenoon is carried on in the wards and clinics of the Charity Hospital, Touro Infirmary, and the Eye, Ear, Nose, and Throat Hospital, and the afternoon and evenings comprise didactic lectures and work in the clinical laboratory at the Hutchinson Memorial Building.

FACULTY—GRADUATE SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

FACULTY—GRADUATE SCHOOL

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL

JOHN MACLAREN MCBRYDE, PH.D., LITT.D.

Dean

The Graduate School offers courses leading to advanced degrees in liberal arts, the sciences, engineering, and in special branches of the medical sciences. For those holding the degrees of Bachelor of Science and Doctor of Medicine, opportunity is afforded for clinical work in the hospitals of the city under the guidance of well-known specialists. Thus the Graduate School presents carefully planned courses for teachers desiring to gain a broader and deeper knowledge of their chosen fields and for graduates in engineering and medicine wishing to specialize in particular lines of work.

DEPARTMENT OF MIDDLE AMERICAN RESEARCH

FRANS BLOM, Ph.B., A.M.

Director

The Department of Middle American Research was founded in 1924 to conduct advanced research into the history, archaeology, botany, products and natural resources of Mexico, the Central American republics and the West Indies, as well as to gather and disseminate information about these countries. Five expeditions have been sent into the field. The Fifth Tulane Expedition was financed by the Chicago World's Fair of 1933.

The library of the department ranks among the nation's leading research libraries, containing thousands of rare items, including manuscripts, maps, and volumes on anthropology, archaeology, travel, geography, botany, biology, and cartography of the Middle Americas.

COURSES FOR TEACHERS

JAMES ADAIR LYON, A.M., D.Sc.

Chairman

For many years, Tulane University has operated a number of courses to meet the need of those whose hours of employment will not permit attendance upon regular classes. The classes are scheduled in the afternoon hours and on Saturdays, thus making it possible for teachers, especially if they so desire, to add to their equipment in many subjects.

These courses are of full college grade, conducted by regular members of the faculty, and in the case of students who have satisfactorily fulfilled the entrance requirements, credits obtained may be applied toward a degree.

A
Century of Progress

GIBSON HALL

Housing the office of the President and two Colleges of the University, Gibson Hall is the main building on the campus

By ENID P. FISHER

TULANE UNIVERSITY today has a productive endowment of $10,055,419.76, an enrollment of over 4,000, large faculties, a spacious campus with well equipped buildings, and an international reputation.

One hundred years ago, in September, 1834, it made its humble but honorable beginnings as the Medical College of Louisiana, with no definite income, eleven students, a faculty of eight, and no home except lecture rooms in the statehouse.

The infant college's early growth was steady but not phenomenal. In 1836, it bestowed upon twelve students the first degrees in medicine ever conferred in the Southwest. Two years later, it began to issue degrees in pharmacy.

In 1843, it moved into its first real home, a medical building erected on Common Street between Baronne and University Place. The students had access to Charity Hospital and the State Law Library.

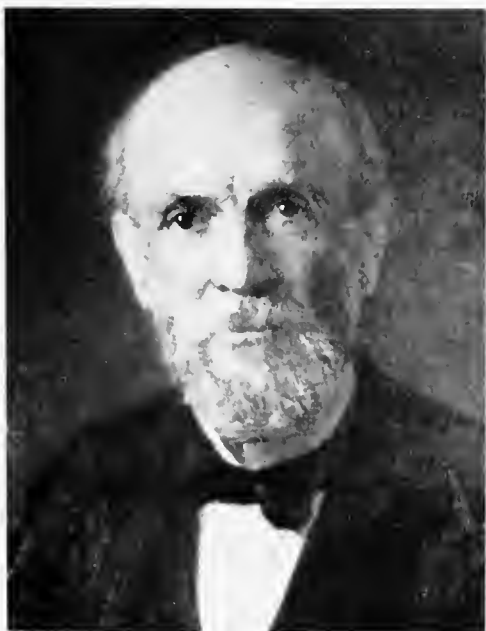

In 1875, the Law Department, with a faculty of four, and the Academic Department and a preparatory school, were organized after the university had been chartered by the state constitution in 1845.

Dr. Thomas Hunt was dean of the first medical faculty and Dr. Francis Lister Hawks first president of the university.

In 1850, Dr. Hawks was succeeded by Theodore Howard McCaleb and a building on the corner of Baronne and Common, erected with a small appropriation from the State, was completed.

A part of this building was leased and in turn sublet as "ice-cream saloons and club rooms, with music, dancing, beer, and wine, and for other inappropriate purposes." This practice was discontinued, however, as it became an "intolerable nuisance" and began to injure the reputation of the university.

The university, closed during the Civil War, reopened in 1865. The Academic Department was not reestablished until thirteen years later, after the state constitution promised support up to $10,000.00 annually. Dr. Thomas Hunt, who, as dean of the first medical faculty, may be regarded as the founder of the university, was unanimously elected president in 1866. His various services to the university continued over a period of thirty-three years. At his death in 1867, Randall Hunt, his brother, one of the founders of the Law Department, succeeded him.

Then, in 1882, Paul Tulane donated for "the education of the white youth of Louisiana" his large holdings in real estate in New Orleans.

Paul Tulane, born of French parents in Princeton, N. J., in 1801, saw the sons of Louisiana planters arriving in Louisville, Ky., to attend school there.

"It seemed a strange thing," he said afterward, "and I remembered it; and I had not lived long in Louisiana before I thought that I would like to see a good college built there where the boys could be educated at home."

Mr. Tulane came to New Orleans in 1822. Possessing a remarkable business acumen, sound judgment and integrity, he soon laid the foundations of a handsome fortune. He moved back to New Jersey in 1873, having previously transferred part of his rapidly accumulating wealth there.

Mr. Tulane made his donations to education in Louisiana through Gen. Randall Lee Gibson. He requested that Dr. T. G. Richardson, Judge Charles E. Fenner, Judge E. D. White and Mr. James McConnell, among others, be members of the board of administrators; that General Gibson be president of the board; that the university be non-sectarian but Christian; that the administrators secure the exemption of the property from taxation and keep it free of encumbrances. He thus left the proposed university unfettered by petty restrictions. His donations aggregated $1,050,000. As he died intestate in 1887, his intentions of adding to this sum were unfulfilled.

Col. William Preston Johnston, president of Louisiana state University at Baton Rouge, was selected president of the proposed university. Instead of founding a new institution here, the administrators of the Tulane Educational Fund took control of the existing university and named it, in spite of its benefactor's modest protests, the Tulane University of Louisiana.

Thus, in 1884, at its fiftieth birthday, the university entered upon a new era. As organized, it included Tulane College (the Academic Department), the Medical, Law and Philosophy (or Graduate) departments, and, until 1894, the Tulane High School. The H. Sophie Newcomb Memorial College for Young Women was added in 1887.

Leaving the Law and Medical departments unchanged, the Board reorganized the Academic Department, which was still in a formative stage. This included five four-year courses, with the students having from eighteen to twenty-eight class periods a week. At the end of the 1893-94 session, it was subdivided into the College of Arts and Sciences, giving a liberal education in classical, literary and scientific courses, and into the College of Technology, devoted to scientific and mechanical training.

This latter offered courses in mechanical, electrical, chemical and civil engineering, and in architecture. Brown Ayres, who came as professor of physics and chemistry in 1880, and John Ordway, director of the Manual Training School, really began engineering instruction in the University on a practical basis.

The Department of Philosophy, open to graduate students, conferred its first master's degrees in 1885 and its first doctor's degrees two years later.

In 1889, for the first time in the professional schools of the university, women were admitted to the School of Pharmacy.

The Richardson Memorial Medical Building was erected on Canal Street with a donation made by Mrs. Ida Slocomb Richardson in 1891. This, after a new Richardson Memorial was built on the Uptown Campus, was renamed the Josephine Hutchinson Memorial Building, in appreciation of a bequest by Mr. Alexander Hutchinson.

In 1886, Mrs. Josephine Louise Newcomb, nee LeMonnier, the wife of a New Orleans sugar merchant, entrusted Col. Johnston with $100,000 for the establishment of the "H. Sophie Newcomb Memorial College in the Tulane University of Louisiana, for the higher education of white girls and young women." This was intended as a memorial for her only child, Harriott Sophie, who had died in her sixteenth year. Mrs. Newcomb increased the endowment to more than $3,500,000. She requested that the college be non-sectarian but Christian, that daily chapel services be held, and that the education be practical as well as literary.

Dr. Brandt V. B. Dixon was chosen president. Among the vivid personalities of the early days of the College was Mrs. Jennie C. Nixon, professor of English.

Newcomb, first situated at Camp and Howard Avenue, was moved in 1891 to 1220 Washington Avenue. The residence on the grounds was enlarged and changed; the Josephine Louise dormitory, a science building, and an art building with a kiln for burning pottery were added. Each resident student was required to furnish "her own napkins, towels, mosquito bar, and bedding."

Newcomb pottery was developed at the instigation of Mr. Ellsworth Woodward, professor of drawing from 1887 on, who had previously taught drawing at Tulane. He was appointed director of the Art School in 1909, serving until 1931.

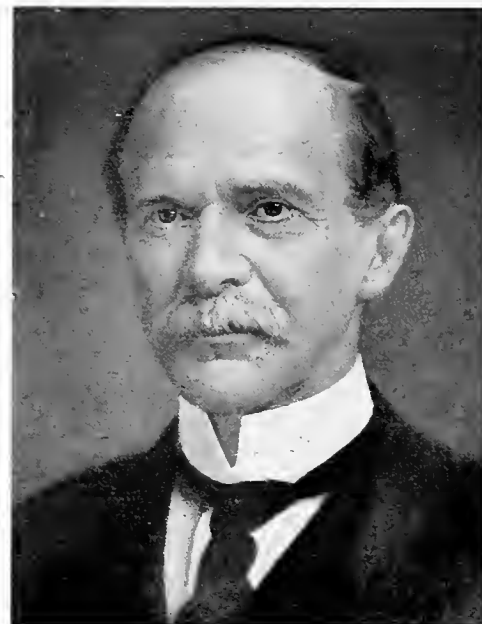

Science and art, particularly the latter, were stressed as much as languages. The courses led to the degree of Bachelor of Arts, which entitled the graduates to enter Tulane University on the same footing as the men. Physical education was included in the curriculum, and a high school was organized. The library consisted of "carefully selected standard works" of the Elsie Dinsmore type.

At the close of the 1893-94 session, the Tulane colleges of Arts and Sciences and of Technology were moved uptown, opposite Audubon Park. Upon the new campus were erected Gibson Hall, the Richardson Chemistry Building, and buildings for physics and engineering. Soon afterward the academic dormitory and the refectory were built, and the Tulane Museum was installed in Gibson Hall.

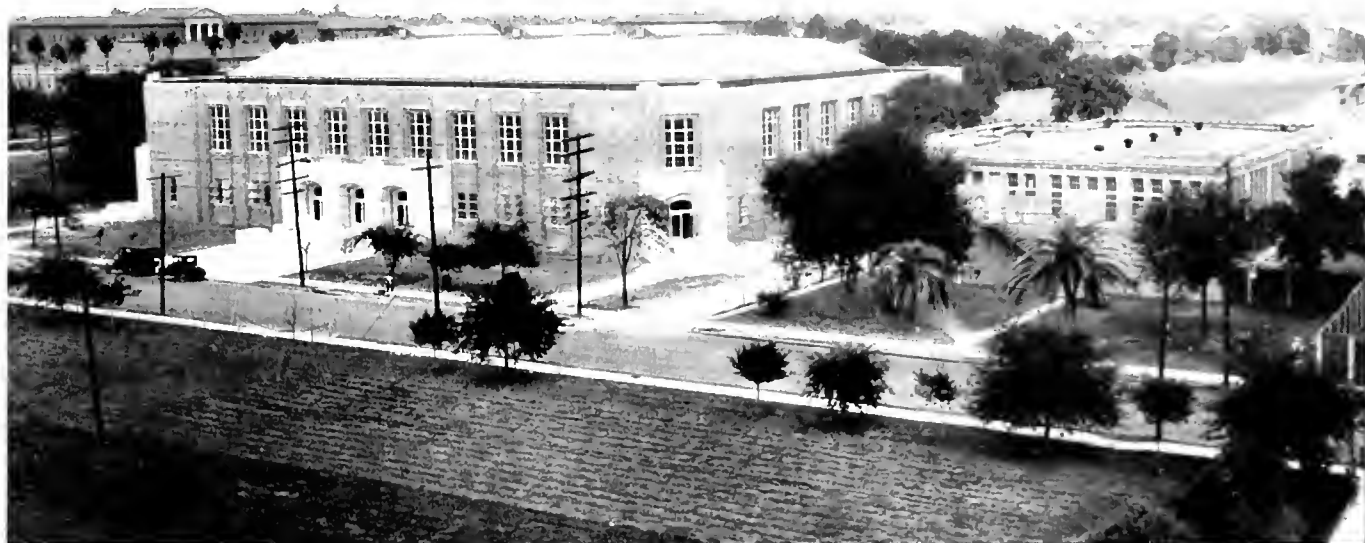

During the 1902-03 session, Tulane Hall, which occupied the site of the Roosevelt Hotel, was sold to the Grunewald interests. In 1912, Stanley Thomas Hall, an engineering building, named in honor of its donor, was erected, and in 1924, the Science Building was opened.

In September, 1900, after William Oscar Rogers had been acting president of the University for a year, Edwin Anderson Alderman, of Wilmington, N. C., became president.

In 1904, Dr. Alderman resigned and was succeeded by Dr. Edwin Boone Craighead, president of the Missouri State Normal. James H. Dillard, professor of Latin and dean of the Graduate Department, acted as president in the interim.

At Dr. Craighead's suggestion, the students abolished hazing and substituted a tug-of-war across a pond in Audubon Park. In the first hotly contested struggle, victory was awarded the sophomores on points.

In the 1906-07 session, the New Orleans Polyclinic was amalgamated with Tulane as the Post-Graduate School of Medicine, with Dr. Charles Chassignac as dean. The Polyclinic, established in 1887 by a group of doctors, gave clinical and didactic instruction to practicing physicians.

In the ensuing session, the New Orleans College of Dentistry, established in 1898, was absorbed as the Tulane School of Dentistry. Dr. Andrew G. Friedrichs was first dean. In 1928, this School was temporarily suspended because of inadequate finances, but a Dental Clinic was maintained in the New Hutchinson Memorial Medical Building.

The freshman and sophomore medical students moved to the Uptown Campus, to the Richardson Memorial Medical Building, completed for the 1908-09 session. This building also contains the Souchon Museum of Anatomy and a branch of the Medical Library. In this year, Dr. Stanford E. Chaille, who had been dean since 1885, retired, and was succeeded by Dr. Isadore Dyer, who held this position until his death in 1920.

In 1910-11, the colleges of Arts and Sciences and of Technology were organized under separate deans, Dr. Albert Bledsoe Dinwiddie and Dr. William Henry Creighton, respectively.

In 1912, upon Dr. Craighead's resignation, Robert Sharp, professor of English, who had been affiliated with the University since about 1880, was appointed acting president and later elected president.

In 1914 the new office of registrar of the University was first filled by Richard K. Bruff, whose retirement in 1927 marked the end of forty-one years of service to Tulane.

THE FISH POND

The Newcomb campus is resplendent with beautiful spots made so by luxuriant foliage and attractive landscaping

In 1914, Alcée Fortier, professor of romance languages and dean of the Graduate Department, died. Dr. Fortier, who had come to Tulane about 1880 as principal of the Preparatory Department, was a linguist, author and educator of international repute.

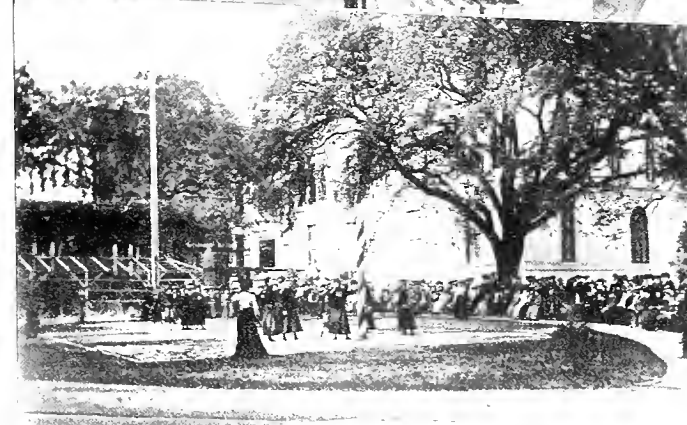

In this year, the College of Commerce and Business Administration was organized and Dr. Morton A. Aldrich, professor of economics, was appointed dean. It offered courses in commercial law, higher accounting and finance, economics and business administration, and commercial Spanish. Students entered this College after two years in Arts and Sciences.

In 1918, Dr. Dinwiddie became president of the University, and was succeeded as dean of the College of Arts and Sciences by Dr. Edward A. Bechtel. In 1918, Professor Douglas S. Anderson succeeded Professor Creighton as dean of the College of Technology. At his suggestion, the name was changed to College of Engineering. Dr. Charles C. Bass became dean of the School of Medicine in 1922; and, two years later, Dr. John M. McBryde, acting dean of the Graduate School since the resignation of Dr. John M. Fletcher, was appointed dean of the Graduate School. Dr. Rufus C. Harris became dean of the College of Law in 1927, and Dr. Hiram W. Kostmaver dean of the Graduate School of Medicine in 1932. The School of Pharmacy was reorganized in 1931 under a separate dean, Dr. John F. Simon, and offered four years' work instead of three.

In 1918, Dr. Dixon retired, and Dr. Pierce Butler, former dean of the Graduate School, became dean of Newcomb. That year, Newcomb moved to its present home on Broadway, into Newcomb Hall, the Josephine Louise House and the Art School. The gymnasium and swimming pool, and Doris Hall and Warren Newcomb House, dormitories, were added later.

In 1929, Dixon Hall, named for Dr. Dixon in appreciation of the great services which he had contributed toward the development of the College, was completed. It contains the Music School, and auditorium and, temporarily, the library.

Dr. Giuseppe Ferrata was director of the Music School for the first year of its existence, 1909-10. Leon Ryder Maxwell succeeded him. Miss Lota Lee Troy has been acting director of the Art School since Mr. Woodward's retirement in 1931. Miss Anna Many was appointed counselor to women in 1921, succeeding Miss Caroline Richardson.

Tulane students and graduates rendered gallant service as individuals during the Civil War. During the World War, the University was organized as a unit of the Students' Army Training Corps and trained 10,000 men.

Courses in radio telegraphy and auto mechanics were given in the vocational section. Free instruction in French was offered to nurses and drafted men. Camp Martin, successor to the Fair Grounds Training Camp, was located on the Tulane Campus, which, with its wooden barracks and administration buildings, took on the appearance of an army camp. There was also a small naval unit.

Tulane Base Hospital No. 24, the first from the far South to go across, was composed almost entirely of Tulane Medical faculty and alumni. It was organized by Dr. Rudolph Matas, professor of surgery. Newcomb had a relief unit abroad. Miss Caroline Richardson, who had gone across with the Newcomb unit, was dean of women's activities at Beaune, France.

All courses except one required by the Bureau of Nursing of the Red Cross were given in the university. The Newcomb girls made bandages and organized a rifle company, under the direction of Dr. J. Adair Lyon, professor of physics, to practice shooting in the basement. Among other things, they learned the "dangers of the unloaded gun."

Freshmen recruits substituted military caps for green ones and smoked on the campus—a privilege which the seniors had denied them for some time. Green caps were restored the next year.

A 1920 campaign for an additional endowment, under the direction of President Dinwiddie, brought $2,100,000.

The Department of Middle American Research was founded in 1924, with the purchase of the Gates Collection. The work of this department, which was established for advanced research into the history, archeology, botany, natural resources and products of Mexico, the Central American republics and the West Indies, has continued with Frans Blom as director. It has developed along four lines—the library, research, expeditions and collections. It maintains a museum in the Science Building and built a Maya temple which was exhibited at the World's Fair in Chicago last year.

ROBERT SHARP
Eighth President of Tulane
University

In 1926, William R. Irby, president of the Board of Administrators, died and was succeeded by Esmond Phelps. Mr. Irby had served on the Board sixteen years. The extent of his donations to the University cannot be realized because most of them were made anonymously.

In 1927, the Board, through a grant of the Rockefeller Foundation, established the Tulane School of Social Work. This school grew from activities started in the University during the war. These resulted in organized training in social work under the leadership of Dr. Garrett P. Wyckoff. The Southern School of Social Science and Public Service, organized by residents of Kingsley House, and the Newcomb department of psychology contributed toward its development. Dr. Elizabeth Wisner was appointed director in 1933.

Since the opening in 1933 of the New Josephine Hutchinson Memorial Building on Tulane Avenue, each senior medical student is provided with a private office in which he examines and treats patients. Courses have been so reorganized that junior and senior students spend less time in attending lectures and more in independent work. In this building is the Medical Library and the Kells Dental Library and Museum.

In the 1902-03 session, the Tulane Library was moved from Gibson Hall to the Tilton Memorial Library, gift of Mrs. Caroline Stannard Tilton. The annex was opened five years later. Until the University moved uptown it had had the custody of the Fisk Library, belonging to the city and supported by bequests of Abijah Fisk.

On March 23, 1912, students were permitted for the first time to take books out of the Tilton Library. During the first month, 218 books were withdrawn, as compared with 2,500 in October, 1933.

Miss Minnie E. Bell, librarian for 43 years, died in 1930.

Nowhere can Tulane's century of progress be seen more clearly than in the broadened field of student reading. Until about ten years ago, they read only by assignment. Now that the stacks are open and the faculty is giving more reference work and less textbook assignment, the students are showing interest in biography, social sciences and the fine arts.

No provisions were made for physical culture in the early days of Tulane; but, according to President Johnston, since there were only about eighty rainy days in the year, the students could "indulge freely in football, baseball, and other sports."

All too frequently, these "other sports" were physical encounters in the alleys between Baronne and University Place, with one McDermott, the porter, better known as "Mr. Mac," a belligerent Irishman who was constantly at odds with the boys.

Later, the students had access to Audubon Park, where they played football and baseball and used a track left from the Centennial Cotton Exposition. They played matches with local athletic organizations, but there was no inter-college competition at this period.

Apropos of a football game with L. S. U. in November, 1900, The Times-Democrat urged that its "readers—attend this exhibition of Louisiana brains and brawn, and help make such occasions as notable as those in the North—where frequently fifteen or twenty thousand spectators—grace the scene with their presence and give nerve and vigor to the players with their enthusiastic plaudits." An account of the game mentions that the players were "arrayed in motley garb." There is also a description of a "beautiful incident" at a performance of "Tell Me, Pretty Maiden" at the Tulane Theatre, hospitable applause greeted the appearance of a sextette who wore the colors of the defeated L. S. U. team.

Athletics, begun by the students, became so important that the Tulane Athletic Council was formed, whence is the TA of the "Hullabaloo." This organization provides for control of athletics by the Board of Administrators, the faculty and the alumni, with the student body president having the privilege of attending meetings. Thus athletics became a regular part of the University's work, under an athletic director. Dr. Wilbuc C. Smith has held this position since 1923.

The old gymnasium was opened in 1912. In 1917, a concrete stadium, seating 2000, was dedicated. Part of the building funds were proceeds of Realization Day of 1916. At the suggestion of The Times-Picayune, the University set aside a day upon which students found employment and turned the money which they earned into a general fund. Working as anything from organ-grinders and dishwashers to reporters and bank clerks, the students raised $6,000, which was increased to $24,000 by other donations.

In October, 1926, the new stadium, with a seating capacity of 24,000 and full radio, telephone and telegraph equipment, was dedicated. It was built as the result of a drive made the year before.

The climax of all Tulane's athletics came with the Rose Bowl game in 1932, which is perpetuated in the new gymnasium, opened last year; for the proceeds of the game served as a nucleus for the building fund.

In the early days of Tulane, the discipline was under the control of a board of twelve students, the class officers, with the senior president as ex-officio president. It acted as a court of honor, but students had the right of appeal to the faculty. With the inception of the modern system of student government in 1915, the Student Council was organized.

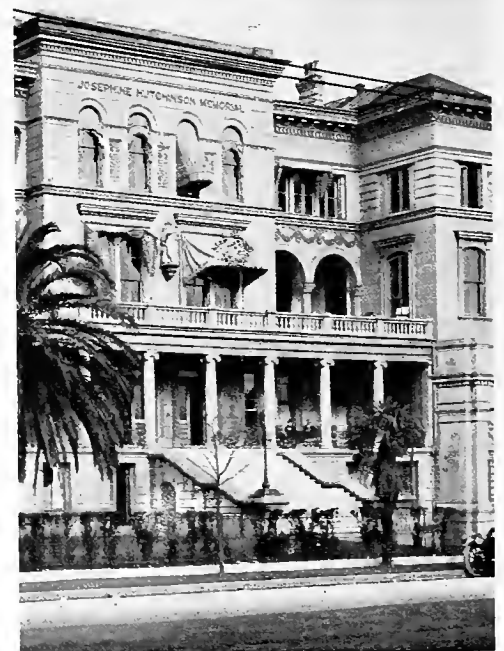

Tulane reaches men and women whose time or means is limited by the Summer School, directed by Dr. Bechtel; the Night School in the School of Commerce; and the Courses for Teachers and for the General Public, under the direction of Dr. J. Adair Lyon. A large proportion of those obtaining advanced degrees at Tulane have secured their bachelors degrees through the Courses for Teachers.

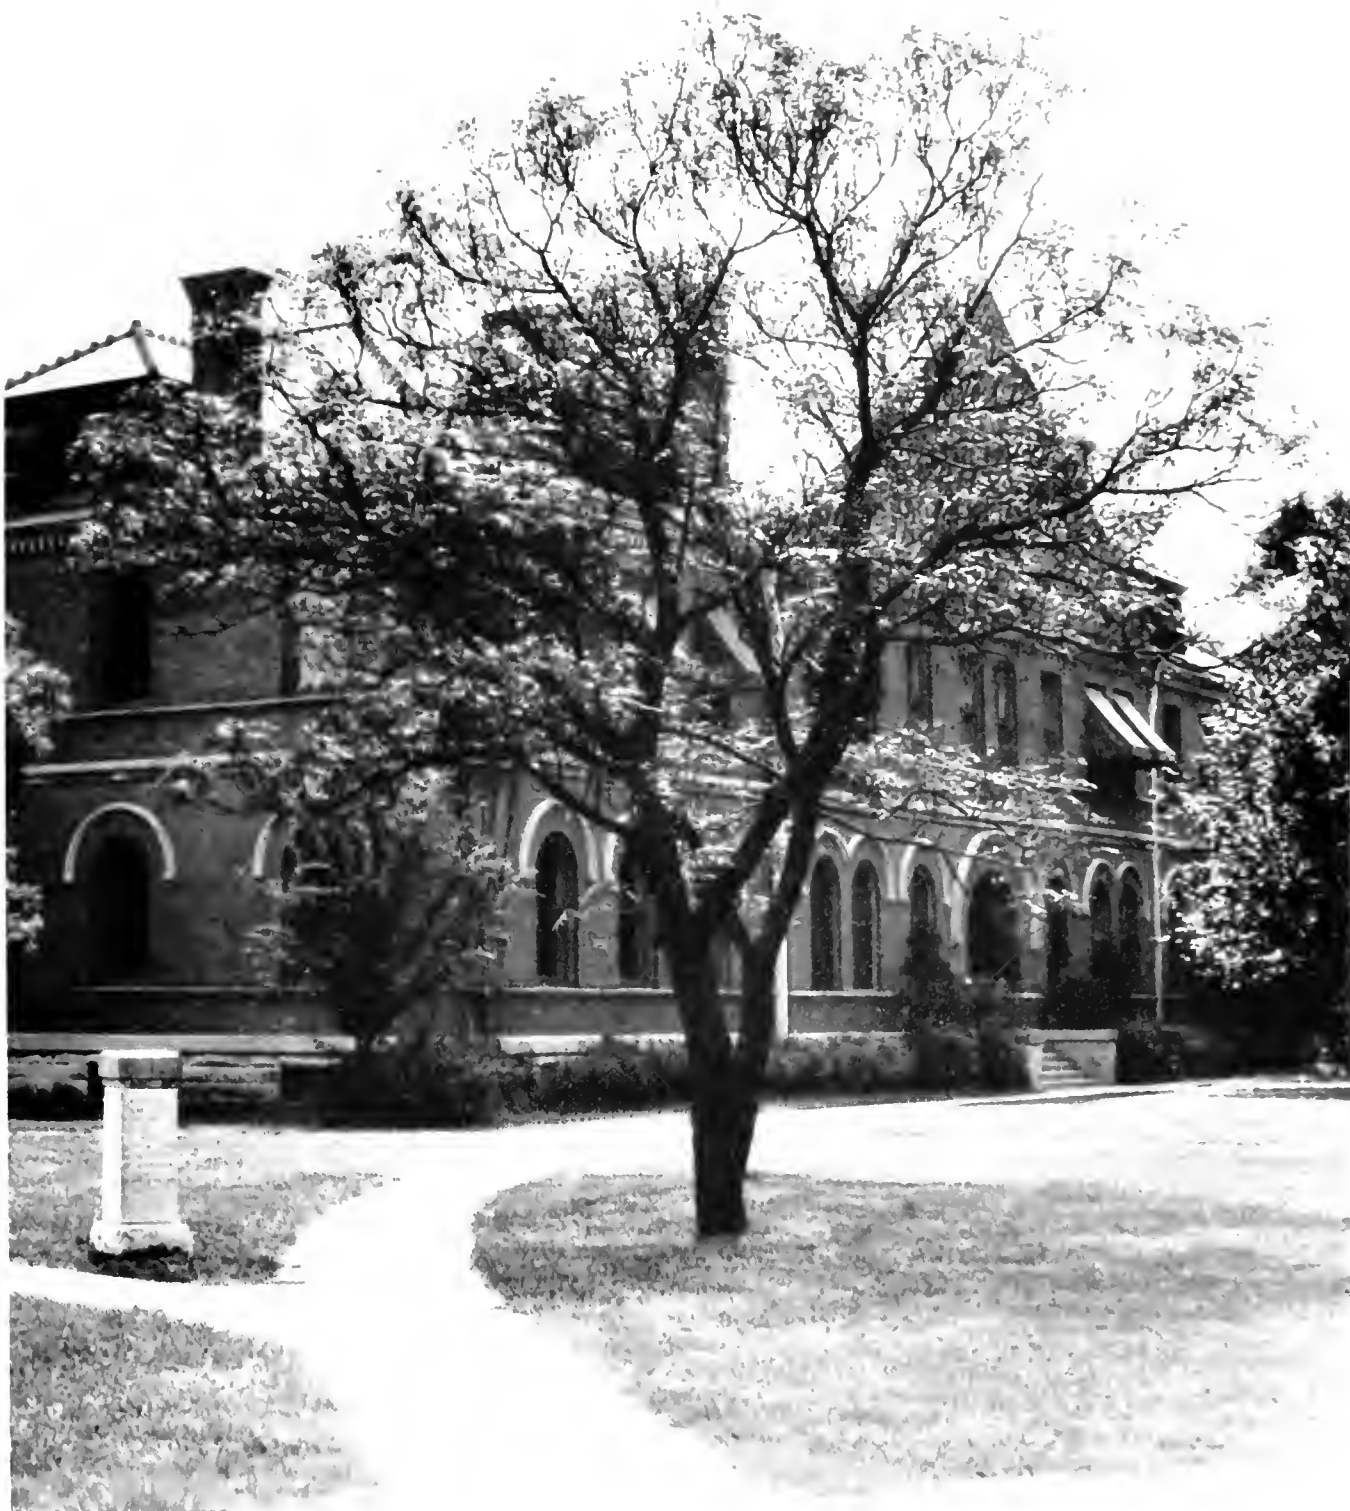

Tulane, with its cosmopolitan background and its location, serves to link the United States with the South and Central American countries, Cuba, Mexico and Hawaii. Of the fifty-five foreign students enrolled this session, forty-three are from these countries.

The alumni associations of Tulane and Newcomb, and the Board of Administrators have at all times furnished loyal support to the University. Many alumni are deans and members of the faculties.

Tulane has seen troublous times—struggles and poverty, Civil War and Reconstruction, World War and Depression. It has grown because of its founders, faculties and administrators, its benefactors, alumni and students. In this year 1934, it stands a composite of its honorable past and colorful tradition, its present broad and modern ideals, and its potentialities for growth in centuries to come.

FRESHMAN-SOPHOMORE COMPETITION

The D. H. Holmes Company sponsors each year a series of nine contests between the Freshmen and Sophomore classes of Tulane. The winning class receives a loving cup. Varsity and Freshmen lettermen are not eligible.

TUG-O-WAR

Ten Freshmen football players pulled the light Sophs through a stream of water in less than one minute.

DEBATING

Resolved: That all colleges and universities should abolish the distinction between amateurism and professionalism in sports to which admission fees are charged.

AFFIRMATIVE

Decision: Freshmen, 2-1.

FOOTBALL

A forward pass following the recovery of a fumbled punt deep in Sophomore territory enabled the Freshmen to score the only touchdown late in the first quarter. Both teams were evenly matched throughout the remainder of the game, which ended 7-0. Incidentally, Joe Loftin, Captain of the 1934 Varsity, coached the winning team for the third consecutive year.

The Year in Tulane Sports

GEORGE A. WESTFELDT
President Athletic Council

WITH a new $190,000 gymnasium, the most beautiful and the most modern in the South, serving as an incentive and an assistance to their efforts, athletic teams representing the Olive and Blue accounted for an enviable record of achievements in the year 1933-34 and produced many individual stars whose performances have merited them an eternal place in Tulane's Hall of Fame.

Each of the seven major sports, recognized as official by the Athletic Council, contributed its share of thrills, victories and outstanding athletes to make the year one which will be long remembered by those who actually caused and those who merely witnessed its development.

FOOTBALL. Off to a poor start, the Green Wave developed from a mere ripple into one of the nation's leading teams and one of the greatest scoring machines in the history of Tulane—breaking a record of long standing by scoring twenty-eight points in a single quarter.

BASKETBALL. Although the cage team was not a consistent winner, Ray G. Dauber, newly acquired from Mississippi State, coached that squad to a good share of victories and a far better season than most expected.

TRACK. The 1933 track team, by far no championship one, still boasted of several individual stars such as Don Zimmerman, Herman Neugass, and Frances Payne who achieved national recognition by outstanding performances in their respective events, the pole vault, the sprints, and the discus.

GOLF. Minus the services of its stellar Jesse Rainwater, the golf team, relying greatly on the stroking ability of Captain Rudy Schulze, Jack Schwab, Bob Daray, and Jack O'Connor, was still able to maintain a high ranking.

TENNIS. A not-too-successful season, climaxed by the resignation of the inimitable Mercer Beasley, saw the Olive and Blue netmen, despite the fine play of Eddie Sutter, Kendall Cram, Charlie Hume, Dick Haspel, and Harry de Buys, go down in defeat for the first time in three years.

BASEBALL. Leaving individual honors to Don Zimmerman of the Arts and Sciences team, credited with pitching a one-hit game, and Henry Fowler, hard-hitting Medic, the Physical Eds easily won the annual intramural baseball crown.

BOXING. Aimed for by every one of its opponents because defending a Conference championship, the boxing team, captained by Johnny Weed, battled its way through every match in high style to keep the Olive and Blue flying high in the Southeastern loop.

'33 Wave has Unique Grid Season

OBVIOUSLY the possessor of great potential strength yet unable to concentrate or convert that power sufficiently to achieve a season as successful as the past few, Tulane's 1933 football team, which performed at its best during only a few short intervals throughout the entire year, will occupy a unique place in the annals of her gridiron history. The Wave won six of ten games; lost three; and tied one.

All hopes for a perfect season were nipped in the bud by Texas A. & M., who broke a four-year string of victories by downing the Wave 13-6. "Frenchy" Domingue, scoring two touchdowns for the invaders, was the spark which enabled the Aggies to blaze their way to victory. A week later, a fumbling epidemic enabled Georgia's Bulldogs to break another winning streak, when her fleet backs ran wild to down Tulane for the second time in as many starts.

More fumbling on the part of the Greenies weakened her offensive in the following two games. However, they were able to come back strong in the second half of each tilt; once to best Maryland 20-0, and once, on a 101-yard touchdown sprint by Bucky Bryan, to down Georgia Tech, 7-0, making it five straight for the Wave over the Tornado.

Auburn's early lead of thirteen points was more than a slowly awakening Green eleven could overcome. However, her loss to the Plainsmen was forgotten a week later when she traveled to the Yankee Stadium to hand Colgate's Red Raiders their first defeat in two seasons by virtue of a 77-yard run for touchdown by Roberts in the first quarter.

For the next three games, Tulane's offensive, inspired by the complete recovery of Captain Roberts from a prolonged illness, clicked excellently, and Mississippi State, Kentucky, and Sewanee were swept aside in quick succession. Against Kentucky, the Greenie backs had a field day, and established a new record for single-quarter scoring by amassing twenty-eight points in a first period spree.

Playing the last game on her schedule, Tulane battled an unbeaten L. S. U. eleven to a thrilling 7-7 deadlock before a record crowd of over thirty thousand people. In proof of their great defensive strength, the offensive surges of both teams, with the exception of the two scores, were confined to the territory between the 20-yard lines.

A passing attack engineered by Roberts, Kyle, and Hardy during the first quarter, was climaxed by a breath-taking dash for touchdown by the captain himself, who, later, converted the extra point. L. S. U.'s lone tally came also in the first half, and was made just before the whistle as a result of a long pass from Michael to Burge, who made a sensational catch of the oval just over the goal line.

Ted Cox, occupying the position of head coach, molded from his many inexperienced prospects and nucleus of veterans, a steady, hard-charging, reliable forward wall, while assistant Lester Lautenschlager, in charge of the backfield, though often greatly handicapped by the inability of his older men to play, developed numerous combinations from his wealth of material which he used to great advantage in each game.

What little the football team failed to do in respect to a successful season, was well done in respect to attendance—the total number reaching near the 200,000 mark, with several individual games establishing new records, or missing one by narrow margins.

TULANE, 6—TEXAS A. & M., 13

A record opening day crowd of approximately 20,000 people was on hand to see any Tulane chance at national football honors nipped in the bud by an inspired Texas A. & M. eleven which uncorked a dazzling offensive, carried principally on the shoulders of "Frenchy" Dominique, to defeat the Wave 13-6 and break her string of four consecutive victories.

With one game already tucked under their belt, the Texans appeared better organized and exhibited a better brand of teamwork than the Greenies, who were playing their initial contest of the season. In fact, it was not until near the end of the game that the Cox-men began to function at all.

Dominique, the Texas firebrand which for the past two years had been so effectively quenched by championship Tulane elevens, came into his own during this, his last encounter with the Wave, and carried the day for the Farmers almost single-handed. It was he who scampered across the Greenie goal early in the second period to start his team's victory march.

Not content with accounting for two touchdowns, Dominique played the type of a defensive game which well indicated that he was determined to make those two touchdowns become a victory. At the slightest weakening of the Texan forward wall, the diminutive back plunged in and stopped the desperately fighting Wave backs from going anywhere at all. He played the whole sixty minutes and looked ready for sixty more.

But the losers were by no means without their stars, and many green-clad warriors covered themselves with glory during the fray. Charlie Kyle, Homer Robinson, George Tessier, Bucky Bryan, Johnny Bruno, and Pete Menge were all outstanding.

Kyle paved the way for the only Wave touchdown by jumping into the air to nab a pass and sprint 45 yards down the field before being tackled by Dominique. Robinson and Tessier also played the entire game and turned in almost faultless performances. Bruno and Bryan, both playing varsity ball for the first time, showed up excellently. Menge was the leading ground-gainer, carrying the ball 16 times at an average of 4.2 yards per try.

Even with the great Texan display, the most obvious cause of the defeat was the Greenies' memorial bugaboo—a weak pass defense. In crucial points, the invaders completed five tosses with little difficulty to gain a total of 58 yards, which greatly assisted in their touchdown drives.

TULANE, 13—GEORGIA, 26

For the first time in five straight years, the red-garbed Bulldogs from Athens, Georgia, dammed the Green Wave, winning 26-13. Yet the final score but partially tells the spectacular, thrilling drama that was unfolded before 15,000 persons in the University of Georgia stadium.

The tides of destiny were against Tulane; although the Bulldogs were outclassed in almost every department but the score. Tulane outrushed Georgia, 327 yards to 230; and in first downs, Tulane almost doubled what the Bulldog had to offer, 17-9. Yet Georgia was brilliant, at times devastating, and always game.

It was an irresistible sophomore, Louis Thames, who fired the spark that made it a ball game instead of a track meet as it looked at the end of the half for Georgia's mighty offense battered out a 20-0 lead in the first 26 minutes of play.

And it was sophomores "Bucky" Bryan and Barney Mintz and Stanley Lodrigues who sliced and slammed, scampered and scurried for miscellaneous yards to give Tulane a quick touchdown right after the third period opened.

The gallant uphill fight of the Greenies thrilled the thousands in the stands; thrilled the thousands who watched the futile attempt of the Greenies trying to snatch the game out of the fire.

Georgia had five touchdown opportunities, cashing in on four of them, while Tulane, on the other hand, drove goalward time and time again, only to lose the ball by fumbles or a bad break. Just twice could they push across that last white line.

Georgia's rout in the first half gave the impression that Tulane would be defeated as badly as the last Bulldog win over the Greenies back in '27 when Harry Mehre's "Thousand Backs" swamped Tulane, 31-0. But when Cox put in the spark plug, Thames, there was a different outlook as to how the game would end.

Trailing 20-0 just before the half ended, Tulane received a Georgia kickoff and advanced it to the Greenie 30-yard line. Inside of seven plays, the ball was carried into the "promised land" by Thames. The second Greenie score came when Stanley Lodrigues registered with a play through the line. Georgia's four touchdowns were made by Grant, Key, Chapman, and Griffith, fleet-footed Bulldog backs who were scoring at ease in the first half but stopped to a walk in the final 30 minutes.

TULANE, 20—MARYLAND, 0

Stemmed completely in the first half by a sterling but slowly weakening defensive, the Green Wave, on the backwash from two stinging defeats, almost inundated a scrappy Maryland eleven in the last two periods to win her first victory of the year, 20-0.

Fumble after fumble on the part of the Wave enabled the invaders to prevent any scoring during the first half, but as soon as the miscues were out of her system, Tulane, relying greatly on the strength of her sophomore backs, Bucky Bryan and Barney Mintz, crashed through for three touchdowns and an easy triumph.

Most of the scoring was the result of long spectacular runs, the longest of which was made by Bryan, who sprinted through the entire Maryland team on a 66-yard punt return for a touchdown. Mintz intercepted a pass by Nelson and scampered 55 yards for the other tally. A short pass from Mintz to Hardy accounted for the third.

The fumbling epidemic seemed to have hold on nearly every man in the backfield. Roberts and Bryan lost the ball twice, and Mintz and Loftin once—a total of six errors. Two bad passes from center were somewhat responsible for the loose play.

Once started, however, the Greenies literally swept the Old Liners off their feet. On the offensive, the fleet Wave backs, Thames, Lodrigues, McDaniel, Bryan, and Mintz, gained 261 yards from scrimmage and a total of 18 first downs. On the defensive, a stalwart line inspired by the play of George Tessier and Hardy, played air tight ball and held the invaders to only two first downs.

Earl Widmyer, the Maryland flash who has been timed at 9.7 for the century, was kept well bottled during the entire game. Very well bottled. He took the ball nine times for an average of minus one foot.

Improvement was evident in every department. The Wave line looked as powerful as any forward wall which Ted Cox has produced. The end play was speedy, effective, and consistent. Pass defensive had been so improved that only two short flips were completed by Maryland.

Punting was above par. Out of eight boots, the Greenies averaged 42 yards each. Lautenschlaeger tried all possible backfield combinations, with the group composed of Bryan, Mintz, McDaniel, and Loftin apparently the best. Simons was on the bench with a leg injury, and Roberts still suffered from a prolonged illness.

TULANE, 7—GEORGIA TECH, 0

The combined scintillating play of two sophomore backs, Bucky Bryan and Barney Mintz, on one beautiful 101-yard jaunt for touchdown with Bryan carrying the ball and Mintz blocking, enabled the Green Wave to emerge from the sea of mud which was Grant Field in Atlanta with a 7-0 victory over Georgia Tech and add another game to her previous list of four straight wins over the Tornado.

Bryan's spectacular jaunt was made on the opening kick-off of the second half. He caught the ball right on the goal line, stepped back a yard or so, and then with Barney Mintz out in front contributing several sparkling bits of blocking, weaved and threaded his way through the entire Tech eleven for the only touchdown of the game. Mintz converted the extra point.

The Golden Tornado was, however, playing heads-up football and came near scoring several times—the closest being made by Phillips, who carried the ball forty-two yards before he was tackled by Bryan on Tulane's 10-yard line. Her defense was also near air-tight. The Wave was able to make only two first downs both on ten-yard sprints by Mintz.

There were only two substitutions, Charlie Calhoun and Bob Simon, made by the Greenies during the entire fray, and so the backfield combination of Bryan, Mintz, McDaniel, and Loftin saw action for sixty full, tough, water-soaked minutes. While their soph teammates carried the brunt of the offensive, Loftin and McDaniel backed up the slipping and sliding forward wall to prevent many potential gains.

Not that the line was functioning below par. Bob Tessier, who had been off form until this contest, was the spark-plug of the team and was greatly responsible for the Wave's ability to hold Tech three times when a touchdown seemed imminent. Dick Hardy turned in some of the best end play ever accredited to him and so did Charley Kyle in the opposite terminal position.

Bill Ary caused the Tech backs constant worry. At center, Homer Robinson handled the muddy pigskin in an almost perfect manner and played a sterling defensive game.

The guard positions were well handled by Bill Schroeder and George "King-Kong" Tessier. Bob Simon, at tackle, rushed in to punt the Greenies out of a bad hole, got off a sixty-yard boot and continued his fine punting spree. His tackling, and that of Charlie Calhoun, the other sub, was also a thorn in the sides of the Tech ball-runners.

TULANE, 6—AUBURN, 13

Withstanding a last minute scoring drive which was ended by the final whistle on her 3-yard line, Auburn was able to maintain an early lead and administer to Tulane her third and last defeat of the season, 13-6. The victory was Auburn's second consecutive one scored on a Homecoming Day.

For the first fifty minutes of the game, Auburn was vastly superior. Her line proved to be almost impregnable and her offensive, carried on the shoulders of three 10-second backfield men, was like lightning and nearly as effective.

But the brand of football exhibited by the Green eleven in the closing minutes of the contest was remarkable. Outplayed throughout the afternoon, the entire team seemed suddenly to come to life with the immediate result that Auburn was placed entirely on the defensive and the ball soon placed deep into her territory.

Time was pressing, with only five minutes to play, so a pass was called by the Greenies. The ball was snapped to Barney Mintz and he heaved a long spiral to Dick Hardy who clutched the pigskin even tighter than the delirious fans clutched anything within distance and went on a dead run for a touchdown.

As soon as they got their hands on the ball again, the Greenies made another power drive which, with only a few seconds left to play, placed the ball on Auburn's 17-yard line. Then while a speeding figure clad in green skirted left end to carry the ball under the very shadow of the Plainsmen goal posts, stopped from a touchdown by two tacklers, the crowd, anticipating a tie at least, went wild.

But during the lusty cheering that followed, the timekeeper had blown his whistle and the game was over. The noise had been so great that none heard the final blast and so the spectators stood awaiting another play. When the players began to file off the field, the spectators were stunned momentarily and were slow to realize that the game was over and that the great scoring drive had gone for naught.

So hard-fought was the game that three Greenies were carried off the field with injuries. "King-Kong" Tessier received a broken nose, Bucky Bryan severely sprained a leg, and Homer Robinson was taken out unconscious.

Although "Little Preacher" Roberts made the longest run of the game, Joe Loftin took the field honors for the day and practically scored single-handed in the third quarter—fumbling only eleven yards from a touchdown.

TULANE, 7—COLGATE, 0

The boys from the deep South showed the Red Raiders of Colgate a thing or two in the line of football, when the Green Wave of Tulane inundated Andy Kerr's smart, tricky, football machine by a decisive score of 7-0, in the Wave's only inter-sectional game, played at the Yankee stadium.

Accompanied by "two pretty girls, a one-legged cheer leader, and a coffee pot" the Tulane team hit Broadway and when they left, there was the scalp of the Colgate team hanging at the collective belts of the happy warriors from the bayou country. The Greenies accomplished what no other team has been able to do in the past 17 games, and that feat was the crossing of the Red goal line.

This feat was personally and fittingly carried out by Captain Floyd Roberts, aided and abetted by the entire team's blocking after Joe Loftin had recovered a Colgate fumble on Tulane's 24-yard line, in the first period. The "Flying Parson" then calmly place-kicked the goal, not in the least tired after his rather strenuous jaunt of 76 yards down the field a few minutes before.

Then, as if to make his performance more scintillating, the gallant captain downed Joe Bogdanski, after the Red end had received a long pass from Kern, on Tulane's four-yard line just as the final whistle blew.

The boys of Ted Cox played a brilliant game and the Colgate game marked the first real display of the year of the potential threat that Tulane has to carry all the time, if she can only "get going." Thirteen Greenies saw service in the game and every one of them are due all the praise that can be heaped upon them. The boys were in there all the time, and comprised a team that would not be licked and could not be licked. The ride to New York, while enjoyable, was not the real mission of the Greenies.

The 60-minute line of Homer Robinson, Dick Hardy, Charley Kyle, Roy Ary, Charlie Calhoun, Bill Schroeder, and Bob Simon played wonderful defensive ball, as did the backs, too. Offensively, Simons shared the glory with Captain Roberts, and his punting was a feature of the game, with McDaniel calling a brilliant game at quarter and Joe Loftin playing a flawless game.

Tulane outgained Colgate in yardage from rushing, 210 to 81. Colgate made 9 first downs while the Greenies were getting 7; the punting was even, but in the air, Colgate far outplayed the Wave, making a total of 135 yards, compared to none for Tulane. However, the final score is what counts, and that was Tulane, 7; Colgate, 0.

TULANE, 33—MISSISSIPPI STATE, 0

Fourteen thousand people, on hand to witness the Green Wave's annual gridiron battle with Mississippi State, had their thirst for touchdowns well satiated when a group of fleet-footed, powerful Tulane backs ran roughshod over the invaders to cross their goal half a dozen times and down them by a score of 33-0. Coaches Cox and Lautenschaefer used almost every possible backfield combination from their wealth of material.

Captain "Preacher" Roberts, playing his second week of football since recovering from a clinging illness, applied the torch to Tulane's powder magazine by blasting through the entire Delta State outfit to score the initial touchdown on a 75-yard punt return. After that, it was almost a matter of course to have the Greenies slice through for tallies.

The third quarter was the biggest as far as scoring goes, for, characteristic of Tulane's play throughout the year, the team came out after the half and piled up three touchdowns in quick succession. Tapering off the day's play, they made two more in the final period.

It was Louis Thames, Monk Simons, and Farrel Thomas who rode the crest of the Wave in her last half scoring spree—each made long runs which added to the total score. Louis Thames, especially, had a hey-day by making two thrilling jaunts over the enemy goal.

But the backfield was hard-pressed to outshine the smart working forward wall. When the Mississippians attempted running plays, they were instantly thrown for losses; and when they attempted passes, as one spectator said, "nobody was open except the headlinesman, the referee, and the field judge."

Bill Ary, Charlie Kyle, Homer Robinson, Bob Tessier, and Charley Calhoun were especially outstanding. Ary gave definite proof that he will be a very valuable player in his two remaining years of play at tackle. Kyle's blocking assisted the ball carriers in completing many of their long runs. Robinson handled the ball at center in an almost faultless manner, while Tessier's bull-like charges and pass-rushing fairly bewildered the Delta Staters.

Aside from bringing a large group of supporters with them, the State eleven's snappy band accompanied the squad and kept things lively in the East Side throughout the afternoon.

TULANE, 34—KENTUCKY, 0

Scoring more points in the first quarter of the Kentucky game than in any other single period of her football history, Tulane ran roughshod over the favored Wildcats to register an impressive 34-0 victory. Four touchdowns were scored and three extra points were kicked in the initial period to run up a total of 28 points and break the jinx which had prevented the Greenies from scoring but once all year in the first half.

Finally freed of an illness which had hampered his playing until this stage of the season, Captain "Preacher" Roberts, in the game for only a short while, performed one of the year's leading scoring feats by chalking up 15 points in five minutes of play. Both of his touchdowns were made on long jaunts, the first off left tackle for 25 yards and the second on a punt return for 76 yards.

Although Ralph Kercheval's famous punting strength failed to materialize, "Little Monk" Simons provided entertainment aplenty in that field by making a high spiral boot which sailed almost 80 yards. This was his only kick of the game, but was one of the longest seen during the season on the American gridiron.

Substitutions were so frequent that thirty-one men, practically the entire squad, saw action against the Kentuckians. In fact, the second and third teams played most of the game, and although they were unable to duplicate the swift and deadly attack which so stunned the fifteen thousand spectators in the first period, the subs well-bottled the vaunted Wildcat offensive and the All-American Kercheval to prevent any scoring.

However, Kercheval was the only Kentuckian whose performance stood out. He showed himself to be an excellent passer, although each of his bullet-like flips, one which sailed over the end zone, went for naught, as the potential receivers allowed the ball to slip through their fingers. Had his line held more effectively, Kercheval's kicks would have been less hurried and better. His running was the only scoring threat of the invaders, but was rendered more or less ineffective by the inspired hard-charging Green line.

Fleet-footed Farrel Thomas, who scored three touchdowns, Harold Memtsas, "Bunny" Stroble, who blocked the first Kercheval punt in three years, Johnny McDaniel, Barney Mintz and Bucky Bryan were also outstanding for the Green Wave.

TULANE, 26—SEWANEE, 9

A fighting bunch of Mountaineers from the University of the South, Sewanee, led by a tireless titan with a fighting heart, Alex Wellford, gave Tulane one of its hardest battles during the 1933 football campaign.

Tulane beat Sewanee, 26-9, but it was Wellford who chiefly thrilled the small crowd of 8,000 from the opening kickoff until the final play and who was responsible for turning what was to be considered a "breezer" on Tulane's schedule into a real nip-and-tuck affair.

Along with Wellford in the spotlight were Captain Roberts, whose repeated long runs kept the West Side stands on their feet during the 17 minutes he played, and "Little Monk" Simons who was responsible for the first two Tulane scores via runs of 19 and 18 yards respectively. However, it was Wellford who was responsible for Sewanee outscoring Tulane in first downs, 12-9, and almost every yard gained by the Mountaineers.

Tulane was off to a fine start early in the game, and after three minutes of play, Simons registered after a 40-yard drive, featuring his 19-yard run, for the first score. The goal-kick was blocked, but a moment later Tulane, after getting the ball from Sewanee on the Wave's 20-yard line by a downed punt, on runs of 17 and 45 yards by Captain Roberts, placed the ball on Sewanee's 18-yard line. Here, in one clever dash, Simons carried the ball over and Roberts kicked the extra point, making the score 13-0. That ended the work for the Tulane regulars and they were yanked, never to return to the game.

Shortly after the second period opened, Tulane stopped a Sewanee drive on the Greenie 17-yard line; but a 15-yard penalty set the Greenies on their 2-yard line. Bryan, trying to punt, fumbled and was thrown by Poage of Sewanee for a safety, making the score 13-2. But, late in the second period, "Bucky" redeemed himself with a most beautiful piece of running. Taking a five-yard pass from "Lefty" Brownson on Tulane's 40-yard line, Bryan zigzagged his way down the field for 60 yards and the third score. Mintz kicked the goal and the score stood 20-2. In the third period, Mintz accounted for the last Tulane score of the day when he carried the ball through Sewanee's line for four yards and the six points.

Sewanee's other seven points came early in the fourth period when Wellford scored and kicked the goal from placement.

TULANE, 7—L. S. U., 7

Two of the finest football teams ever produced in the state of Louisiana met on the Tulane gridiron before the largest crowd that ever attended a sports event in this state, and, in the greatest contest in their history, battled to a 7-7 tie.

The game was played in the finest weather that could be desired and the attendance came up to all expectations of both athletic departments of the universities, Tulane and Louisiana State.

Each team scored its touchdown in the first half, "Little Preacher" carrying the ball over for Tulane and Pete Burge, left end of Ole Lou, completing Mikal's 12-yard pass into the end zone for Louisiana. The valuable extra points which tied the score were made from placements by Roberts and Mikal.

It was a great game, one that will be talked about as long as these two schools play ball. Those who saw it will never forget Roberts running back the opening kickoff for 76 yards.

When Tulane's "mail carrier" had crossed the center line on his opening play dash, it seemed for sure he would score; but it was Jess Fatherree of Ole Lou who flashed in behind Charlie Kyle and nailed Tulane's captain on the Louisiana 22-yard line.

On the very next play, Roberts fumbled and Abe Mikal recovered for the Tigers. Not long afterwards, the Greenies were back again, deep in Tiger territory. Mikal's bad punt started the fireworks and placed the ball on the Tiger 38-yard line. Inside of five plays it was advanced to the 10-yard marker. On an end sweep, Captain Roberts outran his interference and through sheer speed, he flanked the Tigers and crossed goal without stepping out of bounds. Roberts calmly kicked the goal, making the score 7-0.

Louisiana's main threat came in the last two minutes of the first half and it was made good when Mikal threw one of his bullet-like passes that was taken in by Pete Burge for a touchdown. Mikal's toe was then responsible for the point that tied the count and ceased further scoring activities during the afternoon.

Tulane outclassed Louisiana in all departments, which was a big surprise to the fans, the Tigers being the favorites before the game started. But when Captain Roberts started on his 76-yard jaunt, the crowd knew that Tulane would have a say in the matter before the game was over and she did. Tulane scored ten first downs to Louisiana's seven and in rushing, the Greenies led 102-61.

Freshmen Football at Tulane

"NOT great in quantity, but great in quality." Thusly is expressed the calibre of the 1933 edition of the Tulane freshman football squad. From the smallest group that has reported for the "Little Billow" in some few years, Coaches Bank, Upton, and Richardson worked unceasingly to uncover any potential successors to the immortal Banker, Zimmerman, Dalrymple and the host of other great men that have contributed to the football history of Tulane.

It is this group of willing, talented, and ambitious youngsters which gathers every afternoon on the lower field to prepare the plays of the next week's opponent for use in showing the varsity what to expect when the actual game begins. It is this group of boys which makes it possible for the varsity coach to run his experimental stuff against flesh and blood dummies throughout the afternoon until he is satisfied with the way his linemen charge and the way his backs run, pass, and block. It is this group that forms the mold from which finally evolves the team which gets all the glory of winning a game, and that group which feels most keenly the disappointment when the "big" team fails to click and is beaten by an opponent.

This year's aggregation was small but the quality of the material developed should serve excellently as a most valuable addition to the 1934 varsity. Although few men will be lost from the first team this year, those who do return will be hard pressed to retain their positions if the freshmen work as hard as they did during their first season in school attempting college football.

Playing a schedule that consisted of only two games, the Billow lost to the University of Alabama yearlings, 18-6; and to L. S. U., 14-0. Alabama brought a team that greatly outweighed the little Greenies, and although Tulane scored, she was not able to do much with her heavier rival. The L. S. U. jinx remained potent and the Olive and Blue went down in defeat after a bitter struggle in their annual game with the junior Bengals for the tenth straight time.

Coach Ted Bank was again at the helm of the team and was assisted by "Tick" Upton and Pat Richardson who played tackle and quarterback, respectively, in '31 and '32.

In recognition of their play, the coaches awarded the following men their freshmen numerals: Hughes Schneidau, William Loftin, Troy Odom, Burgess Frost, William Moss, Bernard Evans, Charles Sinnott, Charles Eddy, Jr., David Pace, Marion Monk, Jr., David Cooley, Woodrow Armstrong, Pete Dalavasio, Sam Freese, Porter Tull, Milton Giovanni, Melville White, John Andrews, Albert Flettrich, Richard Watson, Douglas Johnson, Brooks Owen, and Milton Offner.

UNABLE to maintain the fast pace set by four leading conference teams—Alabama, Louisiana State and Kentucky—to whom goes credit for eight of ten losses suffered in twenty games, Tulane's 1934 basketball squad, although superior to those of a few years previous, failed to merit a high place in the final standings of the Southeastern group and declined an invitation to participate in the annual tournament held in Atlanta. Ray G. Dauber, acquired from Mississippi State, took over the coaching reigns in place of George Rody.

Against Southwestern, a non-conference team, the Greenies opened up their campaign by scoring two victories on consecutive nights. While the first was a very hotly contested affair and ended with the Wave leading by the close score of 38-34, the second found Tulane functioning better and the invaders were turned back to the tune of 32-23. Blitz, Davies, Vorhaben, Cleveland, and Simons were the outstanding Wavemen of the series and McMurray and Perrin starred for Southwestern.

However, the following week, in her first conference competition, Tulane was handed two decisive defeats by a fast, smooth-working Kentucky outfit. Led by their lanky center, De Moisey, the invaders took the initial game of the series, 32-22, only to come back the following night and, despite the fine play of Simons and Roberts, win more convincingly, 42-20.

Journeying to Alabama for their next series, the Wave met an even worse fate and dropped two more games to run their total up to four consecutive losses. Paced by Walker who scored more points than the entire Greenie five, the Bamans coasted to an overwhelming 53-18 victory in the first tilt, and again led by the versatile Walker, the Crimson Tide rolled big to take the second contest by a score of 48-23.

On the rebound from these four stinging defeats, the Greenies clicked in excellent fashion to down Sewanee twice straight. With Cram, Jahneke, and Cleveland performing above par, the first game was easily taken by a 35-18 count and the second still easier, 45-22. Pierson, Craighill, and Castleberry were the mainstays of the visiting quintet.

CAPTAIN JOE DAVIES

ANOTHER victory and another loss were added to the Wavemen's record the following week when they engaged in a two-game series with Vanderbilt. Tulane won the first game, 19-15, and threatened to annex the second also when she came out after the half, trailing by a score of 13-5, to stage a thrilling comeback which the final whistle ended at a 23-21 victory for the Commodores.

After her initial series with L. S. U., played a week later, in which the Bengals barely managed to eke out a victory in the first fray and then swamp the Greenies in the second, Tulane engaged the Auburn Tigers in her new gym. Led by Beck, Cleveland, and Simons, the locals crushed the Plainsmen 34-18 in the first affair and let up pressure a little to take the second by a score of 30-20. By winning this series, Tulane raised her totals to seven wins and seven losses.

Reaching what was probably their peak performance of the year, the Greenies opened fire with a surprisingly strong attack to trounce Mississippi State by a score of 33-24 in the first of their two-game series. Simons, Jahncke, and Beck led the inspired Green offensive which fairly bewildered Waits, Stone, and Perkins, Mississippi guards. The invaders, however, evened up the count by holding the Greenie sharpshooters down to only six field goals and win 24-17 in a game featuring the defensive of both quintets. At the half, the score was nearly deadlocked at 11-10 and the nip-and-tuck battle staged thereafter for points thrilled the large crowd in the new gym.

With only four more contests remaining on their schedule, the Greenies began a last minute drive for higher conference honors by winning twice in a row from the Ole Miss team. In the first fray, Roberts, with ten points, and Cleveland with seven, shared scoring honors in a game which ended 30-16 in favor of Tulane. Then, trailing by a score of 12-11 at the half of their second tilt, the Greenies turned on the steam to score twenty points before the final whistle and to stem the Ole Miss forwards in winning by a count of 31-23. Cleveland, Roberts, Davies, and Simons were the leading factors in the two victories.

Entering her final series of the season with a record of ten wins and eight losses behind her, Tulane again bowed before Louisiana State's superb basketball team—the first game ending 43-22 and the last, 36-21. In the opening fray, Davies carried practically all of the Green Wave's offensive on his shoulders and was credited with nine of her 22 points. At the same time, Harris and Wade of L. S. U. staged a close battle for scoring honors, with Harris leaving the game with a string of seven field goals and one foul shot for a total of fifteen points, and Wade accounting for four field goals and three foul shots for a total of eleven points.

Climaxing the season, the Wave lost to the Bengals 36-21 before a crowd of 1,200 in the new gym. This win made it four straight for the Tigers over Tulane during the season and helped considerably to mar a good year. L. S. U., with Ben Journeay's field goal, went into an early lead to increase its margin to ten points before the half of this final contest. The score then was 18-8. This lead was never relinquished.

Captain "Sparkey" Wade of the Tigers led in individual scoring for the evening with a total of 11 points. Wade accounted for three field goals and five foul throws. Nathan Blair, Tiger forward, was a close second with a total of ten points gathered by virtue of four field goals and two foul shots. "Little Monk" Simons was Tulane's best scorer. He dropped a goal from field and three free throws for a total of five points. Ernie Beck, Gus Clark, and Grant Jahnce each accounted for four more units.

Tulane was troubled with the same deficiency that faced her in the series opener—inability to sink goals when the opportunity presented itself. At times, Coach Dauber's charges clicked in an almost perfect manner and ran through the entire opposing quintet to put the ball in scoring position. Here, the duet of Wade and Torrance would take what almost invariably was an unsuccessful toss and reverse the entire field, thus enabling the Tigers to rally.

Fouls were frequent throughout the series. In the last game L. S. U. offended 16 times, from which Tulane earned nine points, and the Greenies in turn fouled 12 times, allowing the invaders to make 10 points on free throws.

Along with Grant Jahnce, a forward that greatly improved with the advancement of the season, other mainstays such as Simons, Davies, Cleveland and Beck closed the season with excellent performances.

Joe Davies was captain of the squad, one which had the honor of playing first in the new $190,000 gymnasium.

Track and Field

Hampered by a lack of candidates and depending for the most part on the performances of only two or three outstanding individuals, Tulane's 1933 track team failed to reach the high standard set for it by previous squads but came through, nevertheless, for a fairly successful season with high promises for future great teams from a host of young and promising material.

Two weeks before the first scheduled meet, co-captains Don Zimmerman and Francis Payne gave the Greenies a flying start on their season's campaign by making a predacious raid on individual honors in the pre-season Relay Carnival of the S. L. I. in Lafayette, Louisiana.

Zimmerman took first place in the pole vault and the broad jump and Payne, not to be outdone, bested all competition in the discus and shot put. These four victories gave Tulane a lion's share in the field events, however, only one second place, captured by the freshman relay team of Leonard Oppenheim, Marcus Rubenstein, Albert Rubenstein, and Eddie Marks, was all that the Wave earned on the track.

In their first inter-school meet of the year, the

Greenies, suffering from a weakness in the middle and long distance runs, took the short end of a 67-50 score from Alabama's tracksters at Tuscaloosa. With only two winners, Jo Carson in the high hurdles and Herman Neugass in the 220-yard dash, the Wave showed up poorly on the track and had her point total in that division almost doubled by the Bamians. In the field events, however, the Olive and Blue fared somewhat better. Murray Cleveland captured the javelin throw, Zimmerman took first in the broad jump, and tied for first with Merle Reigel at 13 feet for first in the pole vault, and Francis Payne outheaved the entire field to win the discus toss.

Although everyone was surprised by Reigel's tying of Zimmerman in the vault, it remained for Bill Joyce, Alabama's champion 440-yard sprinter, to furnish the sensation of the meet. Shifted into the 100-yard dash upon short notice, the speedy quarter-miler showed his heels to a group of fast competitors to win the century in 9.7 seconds.

The second meet, scheduled against Mississippi State, was called off by the Mississippians and thusly was Coach Fritz Oakes enabled to polish off many of his inexperienced men and to "discover" Herman Neugass, a youngster who developed into one of the speediest sprinters ever to represent Tulane.

But a mediocre performer throughout the previous season and the first part of this one, Neugass suddenly burst into the star category and conference-wide recognition by stepping a 9.6 second century in the annual Freshman-Sophomore inter-class meet. This, however, was not his "greatest triumph," as that thrilling moment was withheld until the Louisiana State meet held a week later.

L. S. U.'s national championship track team had practically no trouble in beating the Greenies, as the final score of 79-36 would indicate, but suffered a sorely wounded pride while doing so. Diminutive Neugass did the honors. First he stunned the 5,000 spectators in the Tiger stands by easing away from their ace, Eddie Stockwell, in a 0.8 second hundred. However, he waited until his race with Glen "Slats" Hardin, Olympic star, to administer the coup de grace by flashing away from the Bengal super-ace in a 21.4 second 220-yard dash, and just about spoil the day for the victorious national champions. Then, too, the Tigers dropped more points in this meet than they did in any other during the entire season.

Though at the unexpectedly poor height of 12:30 feet, Zimmerman was able to take top honors in the pole vault from Matt Gordy, who later won the A. A. U. championship by a vault of over a foot higher. Another Tulane victory came in the relay race when a quartette composed of "Nebby" Miller, Al Fransen, "Monk" Simons, and Dick Kehoe covered the mile in 3:28.3 to down the Bengal tour. Second places were taken by the following Tulanians: Joe Carson in the high hurdles, Francis Payne in the discus and shot, Jim Harvey in the two-mile run, Leslie Hebert in the broad jump, and Murray Cleveland in the javelin.

Big Jack Torrance, L. S. U.'s man-mountain shot putter, somewhat atoned for the defeat of Stockwell and Hardin by heaving the ball 52 feet, 8 $\frac{1}{4}$ inches to better the official world's record at that time by almost half an inch. The Bengal freshmen, too, had a good day and continued their "jinx" march over the Wave yearlings by winning 18-14 in a snappy meet of only four events. Marcus Rubenstein in the 440 won the only first place for the invading Wavemen.

The following week in the only contests held on her own field and the only meet from which she emerged victorious, Tulane was able to conquer the tracksters from the New Orleans Athletic Club by a not-too-decisive score of 83-68. Leslie Hebert, who won the broad jump, Charles Peres, who filled Zimmerman's place to take the pole vault, Monk Simons in the javelin throw, and Neugass with his running mate, Simon Herold, in the sprints, were the outstanding performers of the victors.

Because it was the only home meet of the year, and because it brought into action many of the graduated stars such as "Foots" de Coligny and "Fatty" Oelkers, an exceptionally big crowd filled the old stadium to witness the contests—each of which turned out to be a keenly contested nip-and-tuck affair.

Weakened by the loss of Murray Cleveland, who was out with injuries and by the inability of Neugass to perform his best due to an over-trained condition, the Greenies could manage no better than a sixth place in the Southeastern Conference meet at Birmingham—the first held by that newly organized group.

Besides Neugass' fourth place in the 100-yard dash and his fifth in the 220, Zimmerman, Payne, Carson, and Simons each added points to Tulane's final score.

Zimmerman, after some of the keenest competition of the meet, tied with Reigel of Alabama and Gordy of L. S. U. at 13 feet 3 inches for a first place and a new record in the pole vault. Payne won a fourth place in the discus throw, Carson a fifth in the high hurdles, and Simons a fifth in the javelin.

The inter-fraternity trophy for track went to the Sigma Phi Epsilon squad, whose participant, Leslie Hebert, was high point scorer of the hotly-contested meet. Hebert and Murray Cleveland were later elected by the lettermen to the position of co-captain of the 1934 squad.

The freshman team won the Holmes Cup Inter-Class Meet from the sophomores by a score of 61 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 44 $\frac{1}{2}$ points. It was during the sprints of this meet that Neugass, representing the sophomores, stepped his memorial century.

The Golf Season at Tulane

THE Tulane Golf team of 1933 was a group of polished players, and although they met with defeat in one of their two collegiate engagements, nevertheless they acquitted themselves well in all competition, and only superb golfing on the part of their opponents kept them from emerging victors in all contests.

The team was composed of Rudolph Schulze, Jack Schwab, Jack O'Connor, and Robert Daray. Schulze was the captain of the team and at all times was a steady player and a good leader. The two main contests of the year were the matches with L. S. U. and Spring Hill. Both of these contests were played away from home, the one with L. S. U. having been played in Hammond on April 22, and the one with Spring Hill at the Country Club course in Mobile on April 30.

In the match with L. S. U., the Tulane team was defeated. Schulze lost to Vance Liddell, although it was conceded that Rudy was the outstanding star of the day in a most beautiful match play, resplendent with consistency and steadiness. In the next match Vance Liddell and Jack Chambers beat Schulze and Schwab. In the third event, however, there was a bright spot for the Tulanians when Daray turned in a victory over Jim Lacombe. This eventually turned out to be the only Greenie victory over L. S. U., as in the remaining contests Charlie Clawson defeated Jack O'Connor and then Charlie Clawson and Jim Lacombe defeated O'Connor and Daray.

Although defeated in the match, the Tulane team deserves praise for their play, as the difference between the winners and losers was so narrow that with the least break in either match, the results might have been the opposite.

In the contest with Spring Hill, the Tulane team were the victors, but it must be said that they barely eked out the winning margin, having come from far behind to accomplish it. However, this is all the more to the credit of the Tulane players.

According to all reports, Schulze was again the outstanding player, and was this time rewarded with victory over Gaughan. Schwab, playing a brilliant game, defeated his opponent, Traynor. Then Schulze and Schwab, playing together, easily disposed of Gaughan and Traynor of Spring Hill. Daray defeated Roney, which completed the list of successful matches for Tulane, as in the other contests O'Connor was defeated by Abell, and the last one was lost to Spring Hill, when Daray and O'Connor met defeat at the hands of Roney and Abell.

The engagements between these teams held the interest of the entire student bodies of the respective colleges and the general public. Each individual player was a credit to the institution he represented and unquestionably put forth their very best efforts at all times.

Netmen Have Good Season

ALTHOUGH playing without the brilliant Cliff Sutter, twice National Intercollegiate champion, the racquet wielding sons of Paul Tulane continued to uphold their reputation as the best tennis outfit in the South.

Responsible for the tremendous success of the Wave on the courts and making themselves conspicuous for the stellar performances were Co-captains Eddie Sutter and Charlie Hume, Kendall Cram, Dick Haspel, and Harry de Buys. All were outstanding in all matches throughout the season.

A large part of the Wave's success on the courts in 1933 can be attributed to the new kind of tennis practice inaugurated at the university by Coach Mercer Beasley. Believing that to be a tennis player of any repute one had to be an all-around athlete and have a physique strong enough to give him the maximum efficiency in every stroke, Beasley had Tulane's tennis aspirants exercising every afternoon in regular gymnasium classes. The work of these embryo net stars included running, jumping, practicing starts on the cinder path, winding up their work with several laps around the track.

Meeting five of the strongest intercollegiate teams in the South and Southwest and three engagements with "non-collegiate" outfits of New Orleans, all boasting some of the most outstanding volleys in this neck of the woods, the Greenies advanced with decisive wins over three of their opponents, finishing in three contests with tie scores and dropping only one, that in a return match with a team comprised almost entirely of former Tulane lettermen representing the New Orleans Tennis Club.

Victories were registered over Kentucky and Alabama of the Southeastern conference and the city Park Tennis Club. Even scores were the order in matches with Texas University and in the first match with the New Orleans Tennis Club.

In the initial match of the season, the Wave emerged with a 6 to 3 victory over the City Park Club, while in their next non-collegiate contest with the New Orleans Tennis Club, the first tie, 3 to 3, was the final count. The return engagement between the two outfits was a 4 to 2 affair in favor of the visitors and the first defeat of the Wave in three years.

Opening their collegiate campaign, the Greenies were to be satisfied with a 3 to 3 draw with the Texas University volleys. Co-captain Ed Sutter defeated the ace of the Lone Star State, Karl Kamrath, in these matches. Ed disposed of the veteran Kamrath, 8-6, 7-5. Victories in both the doubles matches gave the Greenies an even score.

Playing the next week in a strong wind which marred the play, Tulane continued undefeated in intercollegiate circles by beating the racquetees of Kentucky 7 to 0. All matches of the meeting were decisive with the Wave getting nothing more than a good workout.

The following week found the Greenies in an unfinished match with Rice Institute. In this contest, Ed Sutter suffered his first defeat of the season, losing a close match to Wilbur Hess 8-6, 6-2. Charlie Hume was the only winner for the Wave in the 3 to 1 affair, trouncing Henry Holden 6-2, 5-7, 6-4.

The Texans won three of the four singles matches, but the decisive doubles matches were not completed, leaving the final issue in doubt. Sutter and Hume had the best of the argument in a 4-all set with Connelly and Holden, while Harry de Buys and Kendall Cram were giving an exhibition of faultless net play to give the other Owl pair, Carter and Hess, more than just a lesson in tennis.

The next contest found the Wave winning as they pleased to close their season with a 6 to 0 win over the racquet wielders of Alabama. Co-captains Ed Sutter and Charlie Hume, Dick Haspel and Ken Cram turned in victories in the singles, while in the doubles, Sutter paired with Hume to register another win and Cram doubled with de Buys to make it a perfect day.

In the only engagement of the year, the freshman team advanced with an impressive 5 to 1 win over the Gulfport netmen. Abbie Norwood, Cet Mendez, Howard Crais, and Fred Hebert turned in impressive wins in this match.

Engineers Win Intra-Mural Baseball

of Varsity Baseball

BASEBALL, played as a purely intra-mural sport in 1933, met with a hearty approval. The nine representing the Engineering School, emerging from the stiff competition with an almost perfect record, clinched the championship by beating the A. & S. team in the finals after having downed the squads from Commerce, Physical Education, and Medicine.

After the eliminations in this league were completed, two teams, composed of fourteen picked men each, were chosen to play a two-game playoff series. Don Zimmerman captained one nine, and Jim Hodgins captained the other. In the first game, Hodgins' squad was able to down their opponents by a score of 3-1, however, the Zimmermans came back strong and swamped the Hodgins 11-3 to force the series into a deadlock.

At bat, "Little Monk" Simons was the outstanding player in the play-off—collecting six hits in six official times at bat for a perfect percentage. Zimmerman was the leading pitcher of the series and allowed only four hits in the opening tilt, but errors by his teammates allowed the opponents to score a 3-1 victory. Charlie Kyle permitted seven hits in the second game, but kept them well scattered to win. Jim Hodgins, Horatio Ogden, and "Tack" Hardcastle were pounded hard by the Zimmermans, who collected a total of 22 hits in the two games.

One of the feature games of the intra-mural eliminations was the A. & S.-Commerce tilt when Zimmerman, pitching for the A. & S. squad, turned back the Commerces by pitching a one-hit game. Nick Bouzon made a scratch single in the fourth inning for the lone hit of the tilt. Nine men were struck out by Zimmerman and no runs would have been scored had his teammates not committed numerous errors. Up until this contest, the Commerce nine had gone undefeated.

It remained for the championship Engineers and the Physical Eds to play, which was probably the hardest fought game in the tournament. A slashing single by Joe Memtsas in the seventh inning with two men out, drove Charley Calhoun in from second and saved the Physical Eds from entering the last half of the seventh on the short end of a 2-1 score and sure defeat. Jim Hodgins protected the tie by striking out all three men that faced him in the last half of the inning.

Medicine's powerful batting attack, led by Henry Fowler, was too much for the Shyster outfit, which in this tilt played a ragged game and allowed the Medics to win almost in a walk—12-2. Fowler's hitting was a feature of the game, as he had an almost perfect day at bat, driving in several of the Medics' runs.

"Papa" Felts showed himself to be a real baseball player by outhitting every man in the league. At bat fourteen times, he hit safely for nine of them to merit a percentage of .644. Lemmon was runner-up in batting honors with a record of eight hits out of 17 trips to the plate. Bryan, of the Physical Ed nine, was third, with a percentage of .450, Bisso of the Engineers fourth with .444, Zimmerman fifth with .429, and Thames of the Medics sixth with .375 percentage.

The final standings in the pitching department were much closer. Here Zimmerman, with 2 wins and no losses, was in a virtual tie with Miller, who had the same record. Zimmerman, however, had allowed only five hits to Miller's eight—both having struck out eighteen men. In the strikeouts administered, Ogden, credited with one loss and three wins, led the field with a total of 34. Keith of the Lawyer nine had a total of 23 strikeouts to his credit.

Although they finished first in the league, the Engineers rated third as a team at batting, with the Medics and Physical Eds both in front. There were four home runs batted during the tournament; Lemmon credited with two, Bisso one, and Bryan one.

Greenie Boxers Show Ability

THE 1934 edition of Tulane's fistic aggregation, early in the season, loomed as the mythical champion of the Southeastern Conference; but in the two final encounters, a tie and a one-sided loss spoiled the Greenie's chance for a clean slate and the crown.

The answer being that Louisiana State became the mythical champion for 1934. Due to the lack of funds, the Southeastern Conference, in its meeting at Baton Rouge in January, voted the elimination of the boxing meet for this year. Louisiana, by its three wins and one loss, annexed the title.

The first boxing match of the season and the first to be held in the new gym found the alumni and the Greenies breaking even. Jack Pizzano, Doyless Hill, and Sam Jacobs were among the former stars who boxed.

In the first inter-college match, Tulane met and defeated Alabama, 5-3. Bucky Bryan's first ring encounter was an easy win for the sophomore over Pat Gilbert via the knockout route. Torrey Gomila also scored a knockout, Hilman Walker taking the full count. Captain Johnny Weed beat Bob Teas and Al Justrabo outpointed Willie Strickland. Charlie Chavigny shaded Jack Schaeffer for the fifth Tulane win.

Alabama's victories were Max Carideo over Jimmy Peres, Stanley Gorski over "Putt Putt" Porter, and "Frankenstein" Chlundski, by a knockout, over Roy Ary.

Florida followed, but the boys from "gatorland" were set back 6-2 in the bouts. Bryan, in the battle of "Buckies," shaded Buck Bellamy. Torrey Gomila found it easy to K. O. Charlie Fleming and Bunny Stroble outpointed "Carnera" Shouse. Mike Maroun shaded Dave Harris and Charlie Chavigny beat Eddie Heingerger. Al Justrabo, carded against Bob McMullen, scored the first Tulane knockout of the night. Dan Allen's win over "Putt Putt" Porter and Ed Sherman's knockout of Hal Memtsas were the only 'Gator victories.

Mississippi State was next on the schedule and drew with the Greenies, 4-4. Illness kept two star Greenie mittmen from boxing, Bryan and Stroble. Three of the bouts ended via the knockout route, all scored by Mississippi. Joe Guyton, Chandler Page, and Eddie Nash knocked out Charlie Chavigny, Bill Douglass, and Roy Ary, respectively. Curren Spottswood outpointed Porter for the fourth Maroon win.

Mike Maroun started the night with a win over Eddie Cratin and Al Justrabo followed in suit over Frank Brownlee. Torrey Gomila easily beat the champion Paul Bullard, the Mississippi boy's first loss in 16 bouts. Captain Weed scored the final win by outpointing Russell O'Barr.

The final match of the season found Tulane running up against a well-coached Tiger outfit, the result, Tulane was set-back, 7-1. An automobile accident on the way to Baton Rouge kept Bryan from boxing. Torrey Gomila, before 4,000 cheering fans, kept Tulane from being whitewashed by easily outpointing Tommy Tyndall. The Tiger scrappers scored four knockouts in eight bouts, Guy Luno, W. T. Robinson, Lindsey Hall, and "Big Boy" Blaylock over Bill Douglas, Captain Weed, Memtsas, and Stroble, respectively.

Earl Turner, Poincare Rabun, and Henry Glaze outpointed Mike Maroun, Al Justrabo, and Porter in extremely close bouts. Ringsiders considered the Rabun-Justrabo decision erroneous.

The 1934 season uncovered three sparkling newcomers for the Greenies, namely, Torrey Gomila, Bucky Bryan, and Midge Maroun. Gomila proved himself one of the classiest boxers to ever don the college gloves.

1933 Southeastern Conference Tourney

PLAYING host to representatives of the Southeastern Conference in its first annual boxing tournament, Tulane's ring team boxed and battled its way to the league championship by running up a total of 21 points to down all opposition and lead the two teams tied for runner-up position, L. S. U. and Mississippi State, by a margin of 5 points. Fourth place went to Georgia, who accounted for eight points, and fifth to Alabama accredited with three.

Of the eight fighters who were crowned champions at the bouts which were held in the Municipal Auditorium, the Wave boasted of three; Louisiana and Mississippi State two each; and Georgia one. The Greenies that successfully weathered the hotly contested eliminations to emerge titleholders were: Doyle Hill, of the heavyweight class; Sam Jacobs, known as "Ding Dong," fighting in the 145-pound division; and Al Justrabo, lanky 125-pounder.

The final bouts of the tournament were opened with a bang and smash—a condition which predominated throughout the evening, as four knockouts were registered.

Woody Zachariah, of L. S. U., and Brownlee, of Mississippi, fighting in the 115-pound class, opened the finals with a fast and furious exchange of blows with the bout ending in a thrilling kayo of Zachariah.

Al Justrabo, of Tulane, and Stricklan, of Alabama, met in the next fight, the 125-pound division, and by clean fighting and tiger-like aggressiveness, the Wave entry earned a neat and undisputed decision. Henry Glaze, of Louisiana, scored the second straight knockout for his team by crushing down Spottswood, of Mississippi, by a constant barrage of piston-like right hooks.

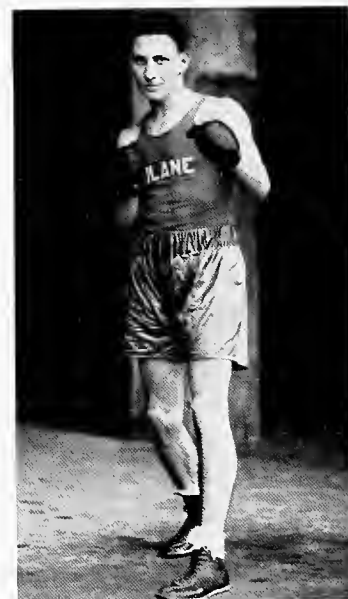

"Ding Dong" Jacobs, in the 145-pound class, kept Tulane's colors flying high by easily winning the decision over Goodman, of Georgia, in the next go. At this stage of the tournament, Tulane and L. S. U. were tied for first place with two victories accredited to each. The Tigers, however, soon met their first defeat of the evening when Sullivan of Georgia knocked out Robinson in the 155 class.

Bullard, of Mississippi, landed one stinging right to Johnny Weed's chin, which sent the Tulane entry to the ropes and earned for him a technical knockout. This was the third kayo of the evening and sent Tulane and Mississippi State into a tie for first place with 16 points each.

Doyle Hill, Greenie heavy, plastered "Big Boy" Blaylock, of the Tigers, so hard in the first two rounds that his seconds tossed in the towel at the very opening of the third stanza. This raised the Wave's total to 21 points and pushed L. S. U. into second place—where the fights ended.

Although this was the first tourney held by the Southeastern group, the competition was unusually keen and the turnouts unusually large. Close to 8,000 spectators witnessed the eliminations—2,000 the first night, and 3,000 the two nights following.

Newcomb Athletics

THE Newcomb Athletic Association is one of the most interesting and important activities on the college campus. The entire student body comprises the organization. It aims to promote an interest in all types of athletics which may appeal to all girls. For this particular purpose, it has provided a gymnasium fully equipped with a swimming pool, tennis courts, a baseball diamond, and a hockey field. Naturally, there are other such things as a bowling alley, ring-tennis and badminton courts, and ping-pong tables. On the roof of the building, provisions are made for sun-baths.

The executive body of the Association, the Athletic Council, is composed of four Seniors, two Juniors, two Sophomores, and one Freshman. "The aim of the organization and the Council is to promote and foster interest in athletics, thereby framing a stronger mind in a stronger body through participation in the sports offered."

In the program, a few changes have been made this year, which allow both greater freedom to the students and still hold the prestige of the Department. There is now a three-year requirement in physical education, the course being elective for Seniors. Freshmen are required to take two hours per week in Danish gymnastics. Sophomores may elect two hours per week in any activity in a selected group. Juniors may elect two hours per week in any activity, but they have a much larger scope from which to choose.

The interest in this department starts shortly after the college itself opens for study in the fall. The first sport in which the classes engage is Newcomb basketball.

In November, just as the weather is beginning to turn cold, hockey is begun. The sport

Newcomb

• Athletics

is real exercise for anybody, but the sheer love of the game draws the students from their desks to put on their shin-guards and grab their sticks all ready to play.

This activity is followed, until at the beginning of the second semester, Spaulding basketball becomes the rage. An event much looked forward to is the varsity-alumnae basketball game, which is held on Gym Night, in March. The night affords interest not only for the college, but for the interested world around us. The side-lines are thronged with people, and gymnastics of every sort are displayed.

Tennis is fostered throughout the school year except during the very cold months. It is brought to an end by a match between the varsity and the alumnae. This match is always followed by a tea, which serves as a grand social climax to the "tennis year."

Baseball is the major sport which occupies most of the spring. In this sport, the varsity challenges the Faculty to what proves to be a most exciting game.

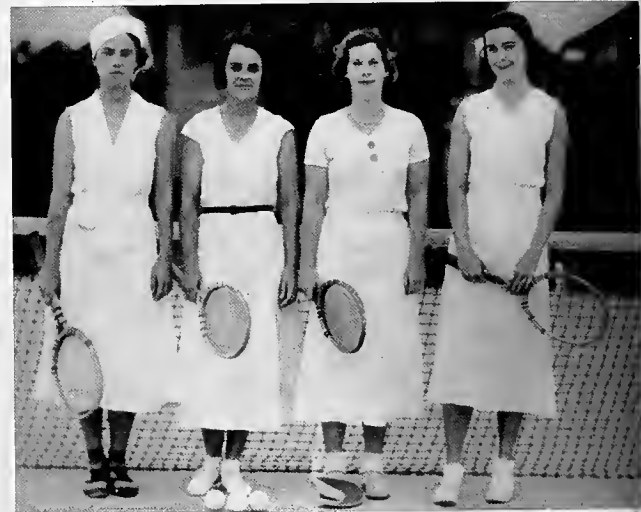

Swimming and diving classes are held throughout the college year, and this activity culminates in May with a swimming meet.

On Field Day, in the latter part of May, the Track Meet, the last scheduled event of the year, brings about culmination of all athletic events. Winners are chosen from such fields as high jump, broad jump, the dash, shot-put, and discus throwing, and the minor sports of bowling, horse-shoe, archery, and the like.

On Trophy Night, the prizes and awards are presented to the winners for the year, and the Department of Physical Education is formally closed until the next fall.

We believe in the tenets of abiding truth, which is the guiding star of our order. We believe in the helping hand which is the bar which binds us in our calling. We believe in the unity of service to one another which lends to the weary a word of cheer, to the poor a portion of our share, to the weak a meed of pity, to the stricken a voice of comfort, to the old a memory of youth, and to the wayfarer a help along to the journey's end.

Our emblem will always be an inspiration to duty, remembering it stands for excellence in all things, purity of purpose and honesty of method and effort, with the blessing of an Alma Mater upon each who wears her badge of honor. May our lives lie among the stars which light the way to the great mystery and may we so live that when we reach the end of the road we may find the veil, which parted, leads to the height of everlasting peace.

The Tulane University Rooters Klub (T.U.R.K.) was founded at Tulane in 1932 for the purpose of promoting school spirit through the use of card displays, at football games, helping with pep meetings and the selection of cheerleaders, and finally for the purpose of furthering better intercollegiate understanding and relationship by meeting and entertaining visiting athletic teams.

CALVERT G. DE COLIGNY

STUDENT ACTIVITIES OFFICE

CALVERT G. DE COLIGNY
Graduate Manager of Student Activities

ARLENE V. ZINK
Secretary to Graduate Manager

The office of Director of Student Activities was created nine years ago with the following duties and responsibilities:

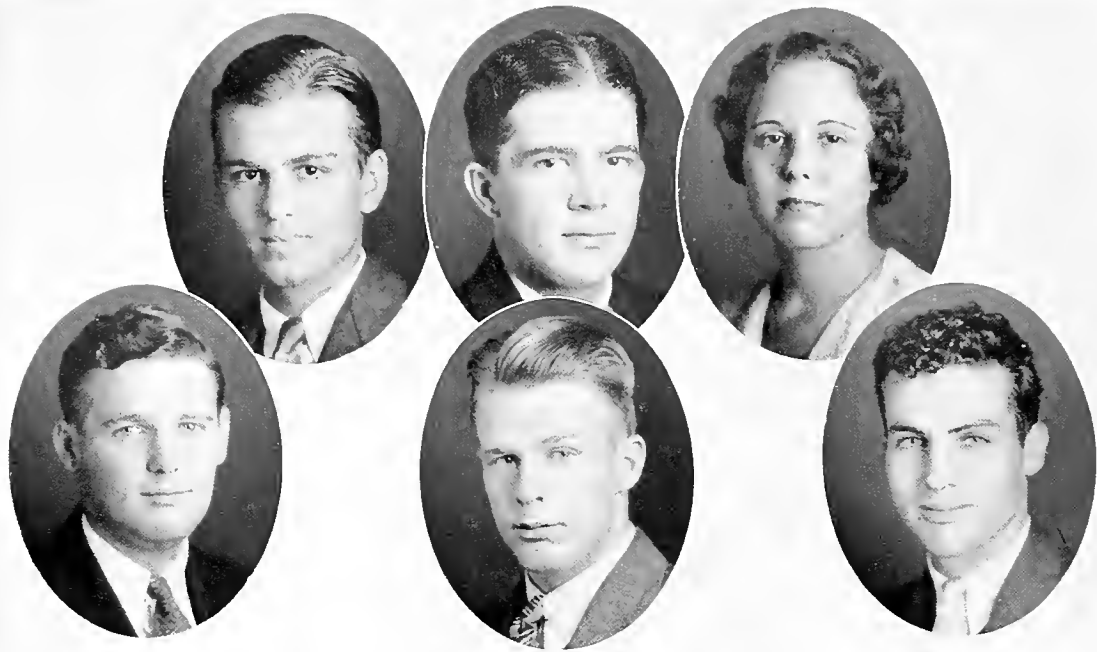

1. To act as General Student Body Secretary, to keep the records of the Student Council, including the records of all receipts and disbursements of the Student Activities Fee.
2. To supervise the student publications; also, to assist the editors and business managers in making contracts and to cooperate with them in the execution of their respective duties.
3. To act in an advisory capacity in connection with the work of the Student Council, to be present at all its meetings for the purpose of informing the Council regarding methods and actions of the previous Councils in directing student government, and the administration of the Student Activities Fee.
4. To supervise the management of all student activities for the purpose of coordinating them and bringing about closer cooperation between the various organizations and activities.

The name of the office has been changed twice since its installation in 1925. "Director" has been changed to "Manager" and the 1932-33 Student Council decided that the incumbent should always be a graduate of Tulane. So, the title of the office is now Graduate Manager of Student Activities.

Although the title has been changed, the duties have, in general, remained the same. The Graduate Manager of Student Activities acts as a liaison official between the student body, the administration department of the university, the faculty, and the alumni. He has contacts with all four bodies and sees that the proper authorities of each body are informed of important actions and they are in accord so that their full cooperation can be obtained. The various colleges are scattered and somewhat loosely connected in regard to their student bodies and it is also the duty of the Graduate Manager to obtain their active cooperation on projects undertaken by the Student Body as a whole.

Although the Graduate Manager's work is mostly with the heads of organizations and activities, the facilities of his office are open to any student in need of information and advice in regard to any phase of his school life.

Freshmen often call upon him for help and a bulletin board outside of the office is used to keep students posted on helpful information and matters of general interest.

The Tulane Student Council is composed of the student body presidents of the various colleges of the University. These officials, elected every spring, come into office at Commencement and serve until the next Commencement. The Council was organized in March, 1915, at the installation of student government at Tulane, and has functioned for nineteen years as the supreme law-making and judicial body in all phases of student affairs.

It is the duty of the Council to handle all official business of the student body. It controls and budgets the student fees, makes all contracts, oversees all elections, and is represented on various committees of the faculty and alumni, thereby giving the students a voice in shaping athletic, student, alumni, and University policies.

Begun four years ago, as the successor to the Southern Law Quarterly, the Tulane Law Review has, in the brief span of its existence, gained prominence both in the United States and abroad as a leading journal of civil and comparative law.

The Board of Editors is composed of junior and senior students attaining the highest scholastic honors in the College of Law.

The Moot Court system in the College of Law is especially designed to train students in the preparation and argument of cases. Technical training in legal research, brief writing and forensics—ordinary tools in the trade of the lawyer—form the foundation of moot court work, but the system gives in addition an even higher type of training.

The moot court rule abolishes the system of precedents and compels argument of the cases on their merits. The student must weigh the social factors and must concentrate upon the functioning of the rule of law. This freedom makes the moot court an excellent laboratory for the testing and comparison of the older theories that law is deductive, formal and arbitrary with the newer theory that the judge exercises a directive force to make law conform with social needs.

An important feature of the Tulane Moot Court System is that it is managed by a board of second and third year students selected on the basis of scholastic standing. The student board works under the supervision and with the advice of a faculty committee. The purpose of student management is to develop a sense of public responsibility and to attend to all of the details of the competition.

In the academic year of 1932-1933, the Tulane Moot Court Competition was won by the Martin Club, represented by Hugh H. Brister and Jack W. Schwab. This year it was deemed advisable to abandon the club system for a system of competition by teams.

This year the Tulane University Band is the largest in its history. The fuller instrumentation gave a better quality of music than was every had before.

The Band has taken part in many activities both in the University and outside of it. It accompanied the football team to the Georgia Tech game in Atlanta, and made a fine impression. Among other activities in which the Band participated were the dedication of the new gymnasium, Homecoming, the Armistice Day Parade, the Mardi Gras Parades, and the annual concert in Dixon Hall.

The Band expects to continue to take a prominent part in the life of the University and the Community.

The Alumni are the life blood of the University. It is the endeavor of this Association to further all University interests and to maintain a contact between the alumni and their Alma Mater.

Aside from the New Orleans organization, our alumni clubs are formed to give us concentrated strength in various sections of the country, and through the prestige of this membership, influence prospective students favorably toward Tulane.

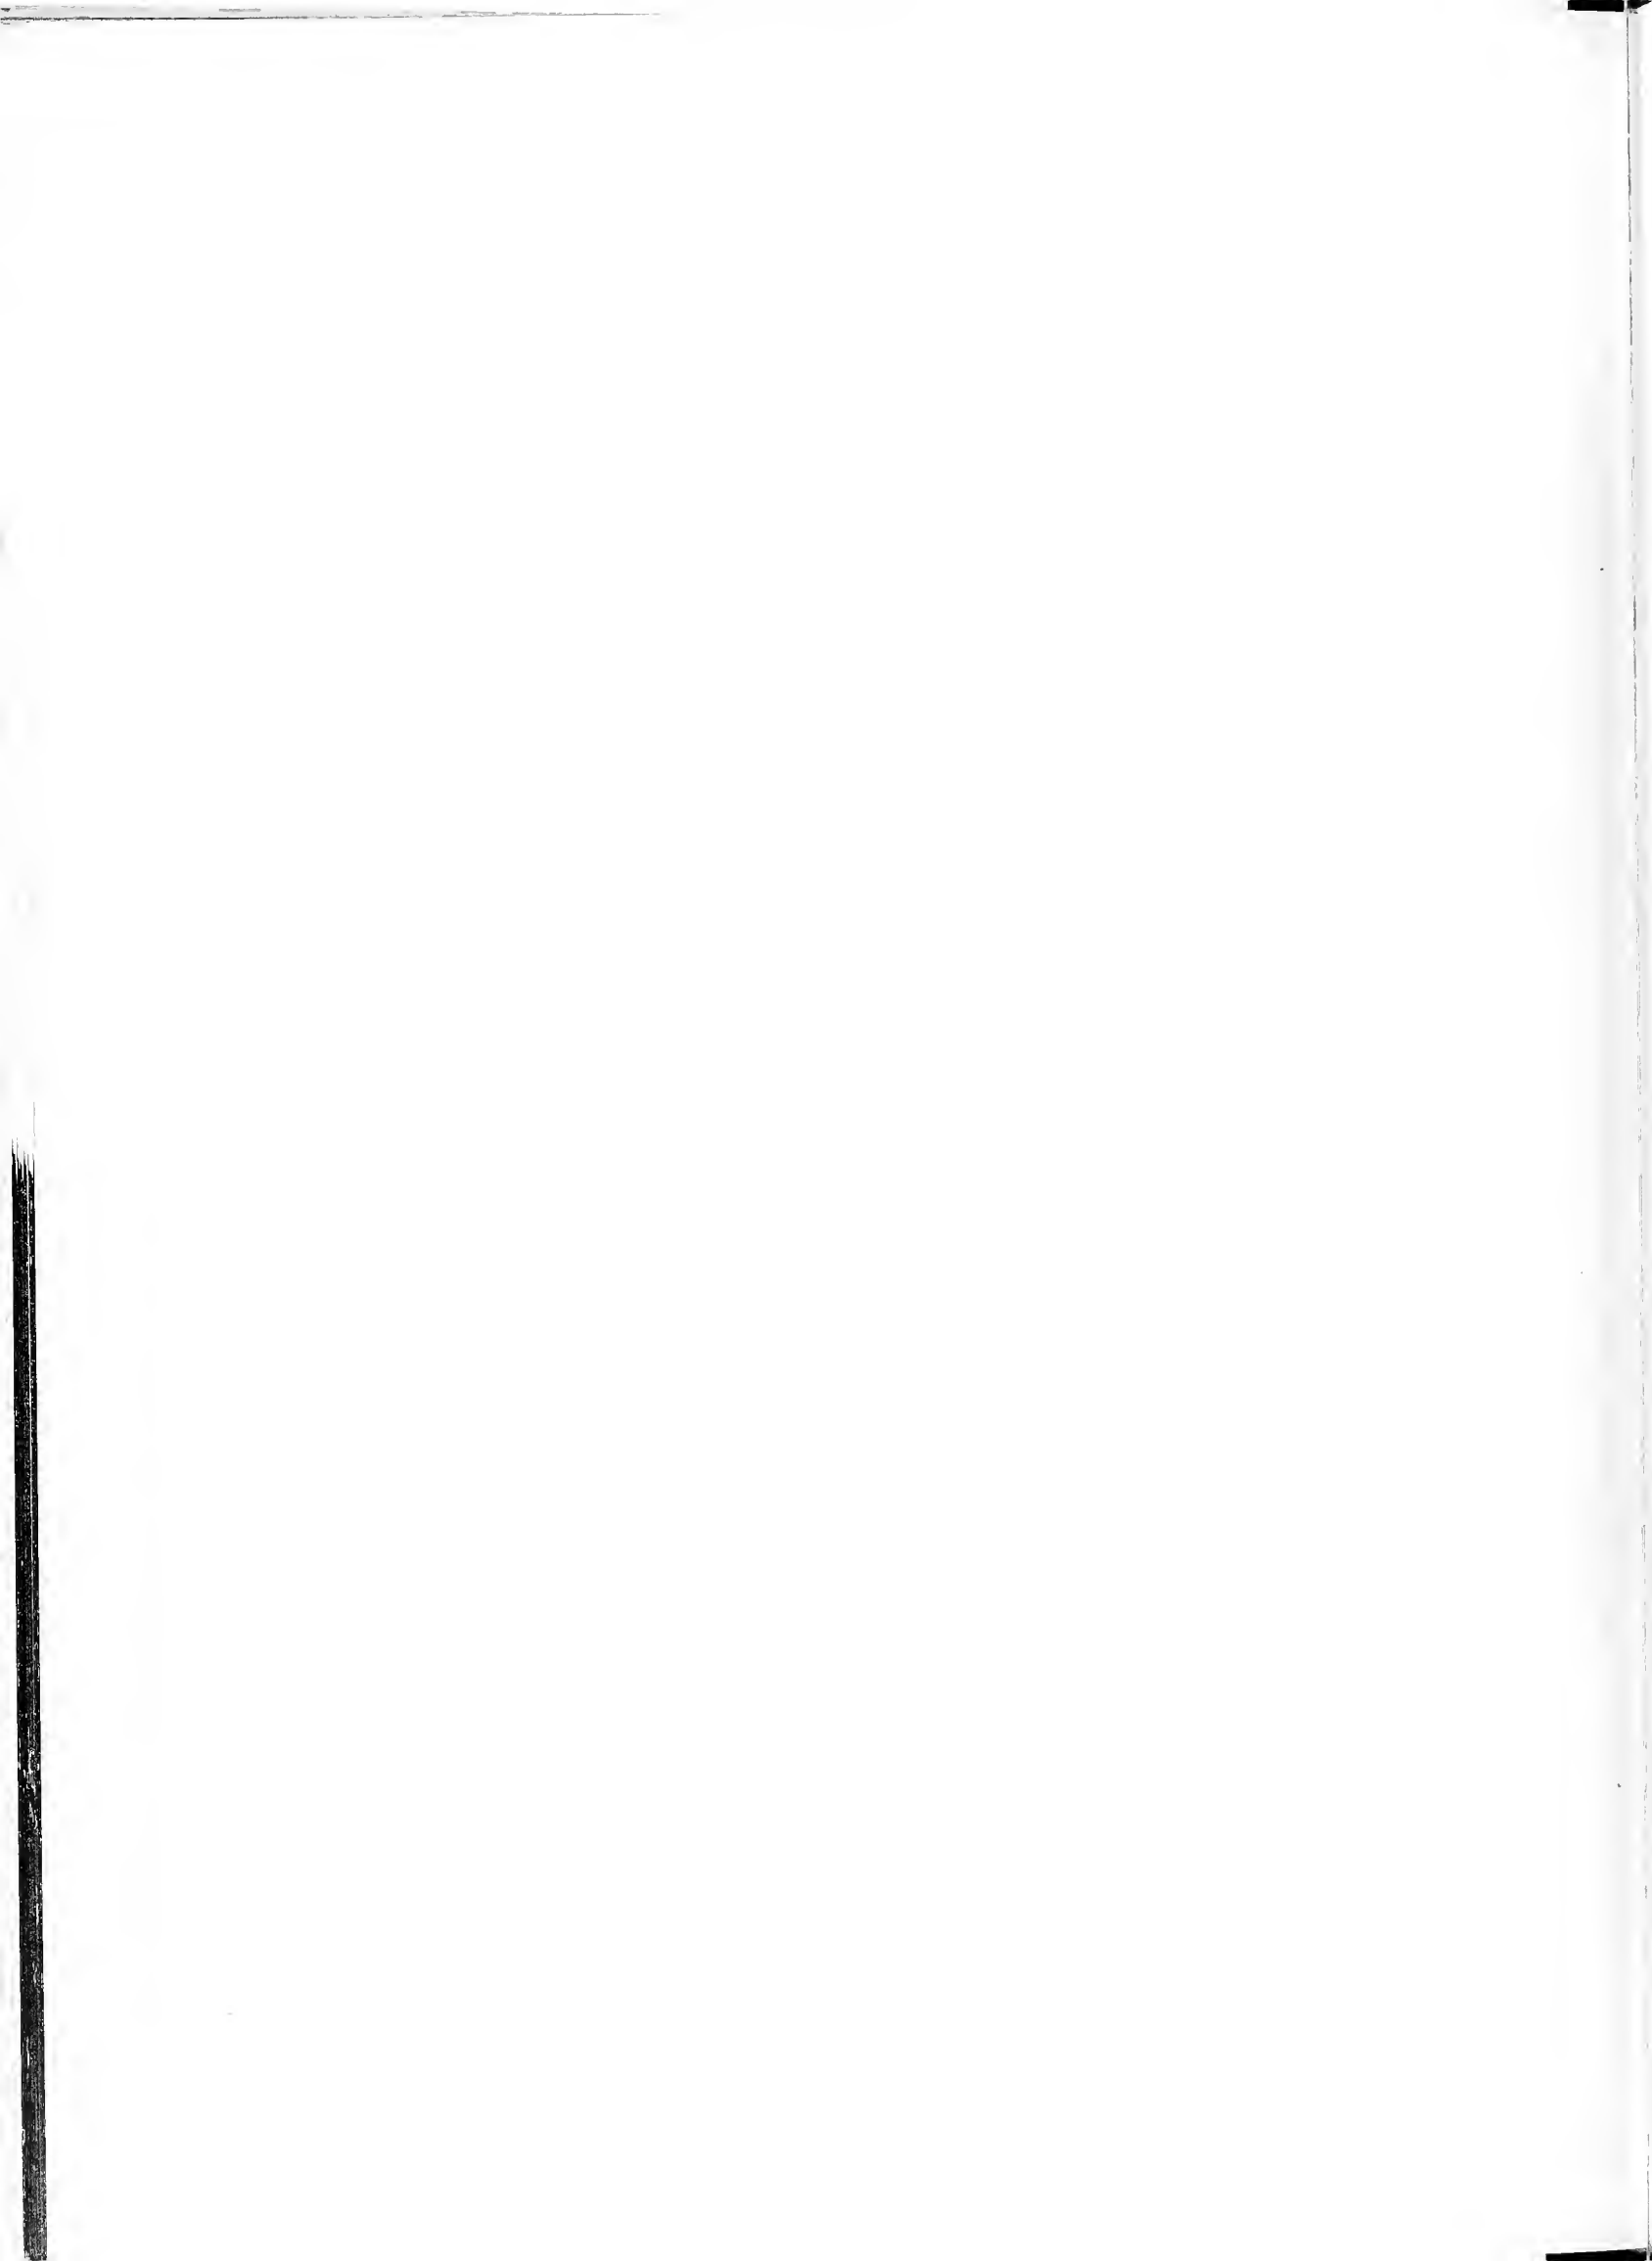

Membership in the Association is open to all graduates and ex-students of the University. All loyal Tulanians are urged to become members of the Association either through the Annual or better still the Life Membership plan.

The Bequest Insurance Plan will be presented to the graduating classes for their approval. The benefits to be derived by you through your participation therein will be explained in due course by the representatives of this Association.

RUFUS RUSHEE'S MONOLOGUE

NOTE: Rufus Rushee, just another country boy, has come to New Orleans to study at Tulane. He is telephoning his father after several days in the big city at the mercy of designing fraternity men.

"Hello, Pops," Rufus chortled into the mouthpiece, his simple countenance beaming. "This is Rufe. Yeah, Rufe. You know Rufe, Pops, old man—your son, Rufe. Yeah, I s'pose I have changed a bit since I left the good ole farm. The big city gives you an air, Pops."

Rufe paused to remove the wad of gum that was causing the change in voice which had bewildered the fond parent.

"Say, Pops, guess what. I been gettin' a campus rush down here. Yeah. All the fraternities want me except one and that ain't no good. Yeah. You guessed right—it's Beta all right. Yeah. Just as rotten here as they are at home and everywhere else. The boys say they ain't rushing nobody Beta but ham athletes this year. Yeah. Zimmerman is gone and they want some more. And I ain't no athlete, Pops. Ain't that grand? Now I don't hafta go over there and be around Patterson and Calhoun and all that crew. Yeah. There is two de Buyses left in the lodge too. S'awful. Ain't it, Pops.

"Naw, I dunno what I'll jine up with. They all look kinda punk to me. Might stay non-frat and jine the "Y." I can't help it, Pops, if you are an A.T.O. Think I'd hitch up with that outfit? Naw sir, I never saw such tripe. They mighta been all right at Virginia in 1902, but hell, Pops, this ain't 1902 and this ain't Virginia. Whatsa matter with 'em? Why Nolan Kammer, Rudy Schulze, and Irving Hardesty. Yeah. I thought you'd agree with me when I told you who was in it.

"Well, Pops, since you seem interested I'll tell you all about these here lodges at Tulane. Take the Deltas f'rinstance. Buncha muggs. They've got one thing you gotta hand 'em though. They got the dumbest guy around here. Yeah. Name is "Birdbrains" Thorn. They got this guy Whitten too. Well, Pops, let's not talk about that bunch any more. I'm liable to mention that awful pill, Blair, if we go any further. The Deltas got a boy that drinks, too, Pops.

"And the Kappa Sigs, Pops. That lodge is a kick in the pants. If you think I'm country or any of them Rednecks that live down in the hollow, well, you ought to see the Kappa Sigs, Pops. Even their city boys are country. All except "Beverage Ben" Habans—he's a sport. Y'know what he does? He keeps all us rushees entertained by playing cards with us. Yeah, fer money. Yeah. He and some other fellers. Spence Lallande and Harry Jordan usually play too. By the way, Pops, while I think about it, you better send me some more money to register with. All that you gave me is gone. Aw, it wasn't much. Aw, Pops, those boys played straight. Honest.

"Say, Pops. S'funny thing. The Sigma Nu's ain't rushing much this year. Claim they've got all they want in the chapter. Yeah. They say they got five good men and they don't want no more. Yeah. They like to play cut-in bridge and they don't want too many to cut in. They offered me a bid though, Pops. "Spike" Wilson, the big shot, bid me. He said not to tell no one 'cause they really wasn't pledging this year. Yeah. Well, I ain't gonna accept. Naw. I don't like Miazza. He don't speak English, speaks Roman or something like that. Picked it up in the law school.

"Guess where I ate lunch today, Pops. At the Phi Delt house. You know, that house they brag about so much. Yeah. They say they gotta better lodge now since "Tough John" O'Connor stopped coming around to the house. Boy, we threw a party around there the other night, Pops. Everybody was on the wheel. Yeah. "Wooz" Nockton was the only sober one in the house. Yeah. Him and "Red" Inge don't touch the stuff much. Say, Pops, "Seventeen Suits" Neville runs that lodge. He told me that if I went Phi, I could be initiated with a guy named Fortier who holds the record for being pledged the longest of anybody since Larry de Buys wore a Beta button so long.

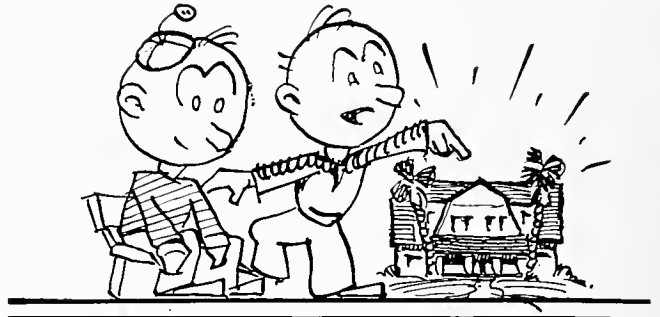

Σ N

"The funniest thing happened today, Pops. A feller rang up and made some dates for a lodge named Kappa Nu. I ain't never heard of the thing, have you? Well, I inquired around a bit and all I could find out was that they got some boys in the law school and that they spend their time at meetings telling dirty jokes and making up dirty songs. You oughta hear the one about "Annie doesn't live here any more." Yeah. Those law school boys are the dirtiest mouthed of the bunch. You've heard Sid Singer haven't you, Pops? He's the ring leader. "Sully" Fisher and Gerson can tell 'em too, Pops.

"Speaking of funny things, Pops, you oughta been over to the Sigma Chi house t'other day. The whole chapter was in "Twin Bed" Higginbotham's room trying to shoo out the Brooklyn Boys. I guess that's some of their ritual or something. They was all standing around saying "Boo." I kinda think somebody was cleaning the furniture, Pops, cause I smelled alcohol. I sure like a neat bunch like that,

Φ Δ Θ

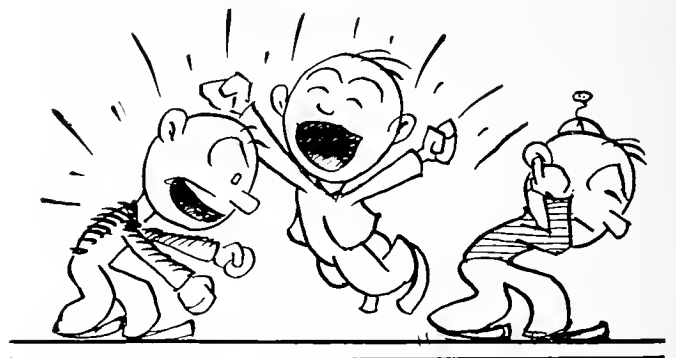

Pops. I think I woulda gone Sig, Pops, if it hadn't been for Top Orendorf and Putt Porter. I dunno, Pops, they didn't act just right about that Brooklyn Boys ritual. Kinda insincere, y'know.

"Pops, since Callahan left, the S. A. E. chapter is even worse than ever. Now that's downright bad when they can get worse. Ain't it? They sure are rowdy. They don't treat us rushees right either. "Hooray" Hubbard and "Jerry" Jerabeck spend their time making us give great big Hullaballoos and all that kinda rot. Who wants to be always giving great big Hullaballoos anyway, Pops? And Pops, if you don't do that, Milto Phillips is liable to get you in a corner and tell them stale jokes till you're near 'bout crazy. Naw, I wouldn't jine that lodge.

"I really was treated like a king yesterday, Pops. Kinda layed it on too thick to suit me. I was over to the Deke house. You know, Pops, that little hovel on Henry Clay. They kinda pull your leg around that house, Pops. Y'know what they did? Murray Cleveland and "Julie Boy" Bartlett, the best leg pullers in the bunch, sat all the rushees down in big easy chairs and put slippers on 'em so that they'd be comfortable. Then they trotted some of them football players like "Loeey" Thames around for us to look at. They sure got a dizzy bunch there, Pops. They about go nuts at their banquet. Get up and sing and holler. It's awful. I got up and sneaked off with the Pi Kappa Phi's.

"Say, Pops, gimme the dope. Is Pi Kappa Phi a fraternity or a sorority? Well, I only met one guy and I couldn't tell from him. Yeah. A medical student named Armistead. Aw, Pops, you must be wrong, they got more than one member. The rest of them just weren't around. You say that more of 'em break their pledges than they get each year. Well, I don't blame 'em, Pops. They are kinda lousy. People say this guy named Janssen that leads the band is one of them. Yeah, Pops. They ain't too good.

"There's a crazy lodge down here, Pops. Call themselves the "Chapter House Boys." They gotta football coach named "McGill" Gay. They say he knows some swell plays for going through high school teams. Yeah. And, Pops, "Shuffle" Eustis and "Duffle" Westfeldt belong to that outfit. That's a crazy pair, Pops. The real name of the frat is Kappa Alpha, Pops. They worship idols and images. Kinda ignorant and paganish bunch. I wouldn't hook up with them. Know what they do? They go down and make all kinda fuss over a statue of Robert E. Lee and he wasn't even a member of the lodge. Funny, ain't it, Pops?

KA

"The biggest lodge around this here campus is S. P. E., Pops. They pledge everybody left over every year. Yeah, Pops. They're the closest thing to a local you can find. They just went national a few years ago and couldn't stand it, so last year they merged with Lambda Phi to get back into that local swing again. Kinda think they shoulda kept the name Lambda Phi, Pops, sounds better to me. Rudy McBride is a big shot in that lodge, Pops. That's just the kinda lodge it is. They just sit around the house in collegiate looking clothes and try to see who can stick out his neck the most. They give a prize each year to the freshman that can be nearest to as rowdy as "Jaisie" Condon.

"The other night, Pops, I thought I was in Southport and come to find out I was in the Z. B. T. house. Gambling ain't nothing at Southport compared to that place. Y'know what they do, Pops? They have elections of officers every two weeks so that they can make election bets. Claim that that's the best kind of bet. Roos and Herold always run for president, Pops. I dunno why. Pops, they say the're all gonna grow up and be in the clothing business. They say the S. A. M. bunch is gonna run some kinda little shops that sell old jewelry and guns and stuff. I don't get the point.

"I can't understand it, Pops, but them S. A. M. guys look just like the Z. B. T. guys to me. I can't tell one from the other. A couple of those Kappa Nu boys look like that too, Pops. The only thing I know about that Sam bunch is that they run the International Relations Club. I guess they gotta run something though. Raymond Kierr and Moise Steeg are the loud mouthed boys that do the running. Pops, I can't figger out why them three lodges got boys looking all alike. It worries me.

~“That Friendly Bank”

Every bank has a personality. A character different from all other banks. It may be size. It may be tradition. It may be age. It may be one of a number of things or a combination of all of them.

At the American Bank it is the spirit of friendly service. Here is how one man described it: “When you walk into the American Bank you can sense the atmosphere of friendliness. The officers are not secluded behind railings. The tellers are not behind wire cages. Every employee and every officer you meet knows you by name and seems glad to be of service.”

Years ago we adopted the slogan “That Friendly Bank.” Now, day in and day out we enjoy the privilege of living up to it. New accounts can be opened at any desk. Our officers are always directly available to the public. For this reason our customers feel free to ask advice and counsel whenever they need it.

The American Bank IS a Friendly Bank. We should like you to come in and see for yourself. Remember, new accounts can be opened at any desk and you will receive 3% interest on your savings. We have no branches.

"I got a tough break yestiddy, Pops. Eddie Bechtel, he's a dean or something around here, introduced me to his fraternity brothers. Yeah, Pops I know you told me better. They got a little blonde runt named Bruno, not the Beer Baron, and they say he's a football player. And they got a bunch of Reuters. Yeah, that's probably why they're such a seedy looking gang. Then, they started playing saxophones and things and claimed they were the Tulane band. The only man that ain't in the band is "Whispering Joe" Holmes and he's perennial football manager, so he ain't got time.

"This Sigma Phi Delta crowd is one I ain't goin' near, Pops. They treated me nice one day and the next day they're hangin' all around the campus lookin' at me through spy glasses sittin' on top of three sticks. 'Sembarrassing, Pops. Anyway, I ain't gonna be seen on this campus with a smoothie like Powell or a simple looking sophomore like little Willie Argus.

Σ Φ Δ

"Pops, send me yore ole breech loader. I might jine the Phi Iota Alpha lodge. You might send me yore fiddle, too, 'cause when these guys ain't havin' revolutions, they're playin' a lot of music. "Songbird" Martinez is one of that mob, Pops. They say he can even sing when he's sober. It's awful hard to drink that Cuban rum with Fernandez and Torrado after I've been brought up on yore corn, Pops.

"Naw, Pops, I ain't got no idee of goin' Phi Kappa Sig. Not after that guy Morrow tried to make me read his Law Review. "Cheese" Keith's in there, too, Pops. He was in school when you were here. Henry Haller's been there four years and knows almost all the boys in the fraternity. They won a Pan-Hellenic cup and got a four-letter man named "Shine-On" Simons, so they think they're athletes. I may look 'em over again, though, if "Beeper" Claverie graduates, Pops.

Φ Ι Α

I ain't goin' over to the Pi K. A. house any more, Pops. "Devil Dog" Williamson says if I jine up I've got to jine the Marines, too. And I shore ain't gonna go around tearing my hair and making speeches like "Davey the Dope" McNeill, either. I thought I heard the fire engines comin' last night, but it was only "96-Ounce" Moore walking in jangling his keys. Yeah, Pops, I know they had a good chapter a few years back, but he graduated.

"I thought some guys were gonna take me for a ride, Pops, some big tough thugs. But a minister feller, he said his name was Roberts, tole me they was just tryin' to rush me Delta Sig. One of the members, John Barrow, turned traitor and tried to pledge me Y. M. C. A. Pops, them Delta Sigs tole me if I jined up I'd be a Phi Beta Kappa in no time, but I'd rather be a student than get in either one of those roughneck lodges.

"Hell, Pops, for the last time I ain't going A. T. O. Naw, three mistakes in the same family would be too much. Y'know Maw went Pi Phi before she busted out of Newcomb way back there.

"Well, Pops, what I really phoned you for was to ask you to send me some dough to go up to Baton Rouge. Yeah, I'm thinking maybe I'd like the frats at L. S. U. better. Yeah. They got some locals up there that won't be hampered with no affiliations with these guys down here. Aw, hell, Pops. Awright then, hang up on me then . . . Who gives a damn. . .

KEEPING IT TRULY A SYMBOL OF SERVICE

We believe that the efforts of the hundreds of employes of this company to render a street railway, gas and electric service second to none elsewhere in this country, has resulted in the above emblem becoming a symbol of service.

But every day new problems of operation arise as conditions change in a great metropolitan community. It is not enough that the above emblem be now a symbol of service. Millions of dollars must and will be expended to keep it so; and hundreds of employes will continue on, imbued with a true spirit of civic trust, adopting new methods to meet changing conditions so that the above emblem may continue to be truly a symbol of service.

SULTAN REVIEWS NEWCOMB GALS

SO I said to the Sultan, "You're at the right place,
For the girls here have beauty of figure and face;
They've charm, sense of humor, plenty of knowledge.
You can pick a fine harem from our Newcomb College.

"To begin with the Pi Phis. They have such nice girls
Like Mollie, the gal with the pretty gold curls;
But beware of that rowdy gal, 'Raucous Rose' Milling
Who'd chisel you out of your last Turkish shilling.

"Though 'Slim' is a roughneck, the normal Phi Phi
Will raise an eyebrow inches over her eye;
They're snobbish, you see, and always have been Since one of their sisters was Carnival queen.

"You won't care for this bunch, the A. O. Pi crowd,
'Cause they've got a habit of being too loud;
When Abby leads cheers you can't keep the pace,
And Haley will talk you blue in the face.

"'Dorm Prexy' North has a high-stepping flare,
And Rembert will certainly get in your hair;
Your Majesty, listen: A word to the wise.
Just pass right on by these crude A. O. Pi's.

"If the size of your harem you want to be bigger,
I advise you to take as your choice Chi Omega.
Though quality's lacking—they rate close to last—
They pledged over half of this year's freshman class.

"Of course, regal names have the two sisters Royals
But frankly I'd rather have dandruff and boils;
You ask my opinion? They, I'll tell you true;
With these Chi Omegas you're in the wrong pew.

"You'd go for the Kappas, but I guess you know
That soon all those gals would be running the show
And 'Politics' Martin, in statesmanish drone,
Would soon be dictating atop of your throne.

"And Katherine Nolan and 'Sob Sister' Weezie
Would sing to the stars how perfectly easy
The ruling of your former empire would be
For the capable members of old K. K. G.

"Rose and white colors would look well, I know,
Adorning your palace when homeward you go;
But if, for these colors, you'd have to be nice
To the Phi Mu's, why Sultan, it's not worth the price.

"Howson, the dressmaker, might be worth your while,
But you want your harem to dress with a smile;
So, all in all, Sultan, there's not much to lose
If you look somewhere else and forget the Phi Mu's.

"Now here's a nice bunch to take from these shores,
And Tulane would cheer you with echoes galore.
There isn't a thing we'd rather you try
Than rid our fair campus of A. D. Pi.

SINCERE CONGRATULATIONS

TO THE

CLASS OF '34

FEIBLEMAN'S

*When rush season comes they don't make a fuss,
As one of them puts it, "The freshmen rush us!"*

*"They've one claim to fame, a sophomore, too,
And this gal is one of the forensic crew;
Her name is Anita, but who gives a whoop?
For debating's a sin in a haremish group."*

*"This lodge is thankful for the letter 'S';
The reason for B. S. O.'s happiness;
Without that letter the girls would mope
As excellent subjects for Lifebuoy Soap."*

*"But Roma in Carnival balls has been
Many times maid but never a queen;
And Edna La Nasa's a big shot today,
President of Newcomb's Y. M. C. A."*

*"They haven't too many for any one man
Though they rush just as hard as any one can;
'Liz Gosper is one we could well do without
But a medical student is taking her out."*

*"I grieve for the Zetas, who once had a girl,
A star on the campus, the Zeta Tau pearl;
But Pal's just a mem'ry, a last glowing ember
And out of the picture—a faculty member."*

*"The Thetas come next to Your Majesty's sight;
And many could pass on a very dark night
As beauties; but daylight reveals them as all Commonplace girls with intellects small."*

*"O Sultan, take care and watch where you tread
For these are the words which of Zetas are said,
And they are the saddest, in heaven or hell:
'The Zetas? Not much, but I guess they mean well."*

*"Now Vassar was queen of the Newcomus court,
And Hoge would be truly a stately consort,
And Dodson can dance, and Gregory's neat;
But Thetas just naturally can't be elite."*

*"I think the worst part of the Beta Phi folks
Is the Tulane co-ed with the last name of Stokes.
Like a convict life-terminer, of freedom bereft,
All they do is sit back and take what is left."*

*"For sheer independence this group gets the edge,
For A. E. Phi never has missed on a pledge."*

*"But even with Beta Phi Alpha in view,
You can see opportunities open to you,
Selah! And, awaiting your choice, I pray
That you take every Newcomb sorority away!"*

ELEVEN years of service represents quite a record, when it is satisfactory service. And the record which Molloy Made Covers have established for service on the Jambalaya is a record of satisfactory service.

The last eleven issues of the Jambalaya, beginning with the 1923 issue, have been cased in a Molloy Made Cover. The 1934 book repeats this same record.

This service to the Jambalaya staff during these past eleven years is an indication of the flexibility of this organization. No matter what your problem may be from a standpoint of design, from a standpoint of budgetary limitations, from a standpoint of material and workmanship, the Molloy organization is prepared to meet your requirements.

Complete information and data will be furnished you on request. Your correspondence will be personally handled by a man who has had more personal contact with annual covers during the past fifteen years than any other man living.
